 Department of the Army,1979 Desert Shield and Desert Storm Howard K. Butler,1991 The Iraqi invasion of Kuwait on August the 2nd 1990 and the resultant decision by the President to deploy land air and naval forces to protect Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates led since August the 8th 1990 to a steady measured commitment of soldiers sailors airmen and supporting equipment to Southwest Asia That commitment which began approaching its apparent apex by early November suddenly broadened on the 8th of that month when the President expanded the original defensive objective to entail the liberation of Kuwait His policy addendum called for doubling the 200 000 men in Southwest Asia to about 400 000 and he gave Iraq a January the 15th 1991 deadline to quit Kuwait or face massive military force Overall American policy in this matter could therefore be considered roughly three phased one the original defensive deployment of 200 000 strong August 8 November 8 1990 two the reinforcement to attack strength of about 400 000 November 8 1990 to January 15 1991 and three

McCoy,1997-12 Historically helicopter and load combinations have been qualified through flight testing requiring considerable time and cost With advancements in simulation and flight test techniques there is potential to substantially reduce costs and increase the safety of helicopter sling load certification Validated simulation tools make possible accurate prediction of operational flight characteristics before initial flight tests Real time analysis of test data improves the safety and efficiency of the testing programs To advance these concepts the US Army and NASA in cooperation with the Israeli Air Force and Technion under a Memorandum of Agreement seek to develop and validate a numerical model of the UH 60 with sling load and demonstrate a method of near real time flight test analysis This thesis presents results from flight tests of a US Army Black Hawk helicopter with various external loads Tests were conducted as the US first phase of this MOA task The primary load was a container express box CONEX which contained a compact instrumentation package The flights covered the airspeed range from hover to 70 knots Primary maneuvers were pitch and roll frequency sweeps steps and doublets Results of the test determined the effect of the suspended load on both the aircraft s handling qualities and it s control system s stability margins Included were calculations of the stability characteristics of the load s pendular motion Utilizing CIPHER software a method for near real time system identification was also demonstrated during the flight test program
