Architecture, State Modernism and Cultural Nationalism in the Apartheid Capital Hilton

Judin, 2021-04-08 This book is the first comprehensive investigation of the architecture of the apartheid state in the period of rapid economic growth and political repression from 1957 to 1966 when buildings took on an ideological role that was never remote from the increasingly dominant administrative legislative and policing mechanisms of the regime It considers how this process reflected the usurpation of a regional modernism and looks to contribute to wider discourses on international postwar modernism in architecture Buildings in Pretoria that came to embody ambitions of the apartheid state for industrialisation and progress serve as case studies These were widely acclaimed projects that embodied for apartheid officials the pursuit of modernisation but carried latent apprehensions of Afrikaners about their growing economic prospects and cultural estrangement in Africa It is a less known and marginal story due to the dearth of material and documents buried in archives and untranslated documents Many of the documents drawings and photographs in the book are unpublished and include classified material and photographs from the National Nuclear Research Centre negatives of 1960s from Pretoria News and documents and pamphlets from Afrikaner Broederbond archives State architecture became the most iconic public manifestation of an evolving expression of white cultural identity as a new generation of architects in Pretoria took up the challenge of finding form to their prospects and beliefs It was an opportunistic faith in Afrikaners who urgently needed to entrench their vulnerable and contested position on the African continent The shift from provincial town to apartheid capital was swift and relentless Little was left to stand in the way of the ambitions and aim of the state as people were uprooted and forcibly relocated structures torn down and block upon block of administration towers and slabs erected across Pretoria This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of architectural history as well as those with an interest in postcolonial studies political science and social anthropology Possible Scenarios for Homochirality on Earth Michiya Fujiki,2019-11-14 In 1978 Fred Hoyle proposed that interstellar comets carrying several viruses landed on Earth as part of the panspermia hypotheses With respect to life the origin of homochirality on Earth has been the greatest mystery because life cannot exist without molecular asymmetry Many scientists have proposed several possible hypotheses to answer this long standing L D question Previously Martin Gardner raised the question about mirror symmetry and broken mirror symmetry in terms of the homochirality question in his monographs 1964 and 1990 Possible scenarios for the L D issue can be categorized into i Earth and exoterrestrial origins ii by chance and necessity mechanisms and iii mirror symmetrical and non mirror symmetrical forces as physical and chemical origins These scenarios should involve further great amplification mechanisms enabling a pure L or D world ICGG 2022 - Proceedings of the 20th International Conference on Geometry and Graphics Liang-Yee Cheng,2022-08-12 This book covers recent achievements on the ever expanding field of Geometry and Graphics on both analogical and digital fronts from theoretical investigations to a broad range of applications new teaching methodologies and historical aspects It is from 20th International Conference on Geometry and Graphics ICGG2022 a series of conference that started in 1978 and promoted by International Society for Geometry and Graphics which aims to foster international collaboration and stimulate the scientific research and teaching innovations in the multidisciplinary field The contents of the book are organized in Theoretical Geometry and Graphics Applied Geometry and Graphics Engineering Computer Graphics Graphics Education Geometry and Graphics in History and are intent for the academics researchers and professionals in architecture engineering industrial design mathematics and arts
