UMAT Preparation Guide

UMAT Exam Preparation

All students who are serious about gaining entry into a health science course in universities around Australia should understand the importance of the UMAT. The UMAT accounts for at least one third, often more, of the criteria for entry into health science courses. To gain entry to medicine and dentistry courses, your UMAT scores would often be weighed against your year 12 academic results (and/or university results if applicable) and the results of the interview. In essence, the UMAT is just as important, if not MORE important, than your UAI/ENTER/OP results!

Once you have truly appreciated the importance of the UMAT, you should:

- Analyse the amount of time you have left.
- Decide how much UMAT practice you wish to complete.
- Broadly plan how many questions and how much revision you should do on a weekly basis.
- Then plan specifically which questions and which sections to revise on a daily or weekly basis.
- Week by week, place UMAT practice into available, marked out time slots.
- If you have a study system that you have used previously and successfully, apply it to UMAT practice.

Get help early! Many students leave it too late for tutoring to take any effect.

Day Before the UMAT Exam

The UMAT is not the first exam you have ever taken, so most of the following hints and tips may seem to be common sense. However, many students still fail to stick to these clichéd advices:

- Get adequate amounts of sleep. Most people would recommend around 8 hours. However, if you are used to having a lot less or a lot more, stick with your normal routine, provided that you are normally awake and alert with your unique body clock.
- Make sure everything that you need for the next day – UMAT identification card, photo ID and stationery has been prepared and placed together in an easily accessible place.
- Make sure you know when and where the UMAT will be held, and organise transport to the exam venue. If you are going by public transport, find out the correct route, the type of transport and their respective timetables.
- Keep your stress level under control.
