Un Merveilleux Malheur:

, Un merveilleux malheur Boris Cyrulnik, 1999      The Unspeakable Amy L. Hubbell, Névine El Nossery, 2013-10-03

The Unspeakable Representations of Trauma in Francophone Literature and Art is situated at the crossroads of language culture and genre it contends that suffering transcends time space and cultural specificity Even when extreme trauma is silenced it often still emerges in surprising and painful ways This volume draws together examples from throughout the Francophone world including countries such as Algeria Morocco Lebanon Rwanda Cameroon Congo C te d Ivoire Haiti New Caledonia Quebec and France and across genres such as autobiography poetry theater film fiction and visual art to provide a cohesive analysis of the representation of trauma In addition to the survivors expression of trauma the witnesses and receivers are also taken into account By gathering studies that explore diverse bodily and psychological traumas through tropes such as repetition silence and working through it tackles ethical responsibility and interrogates how expressive forms evoke a terrible reality through the use of imagination The aim of this volume is not to question if suffering is representable but rather to examine to what extent art surpasses its own limitations and goes straight to its essence The Unspeakable hopes to provide models for the cultural translation of trauma because when represented and released from silence and isolation trauma can give way to the arduous process of healing

Abuse or Punishment? Marie-Aimée Cliche, 2014-11-27 At one time the use of corporal punishment by parents in child rearing was considered normal but in the second half of the nineteenth century this began to change in Quebec as well as the rest of the Western world It was during this period that the extent of ill treatment inflicted on children treatment once excused as good child rearing practice was discovered This book analyzes both the advice provided to parents and the different forms of child abuse within families Cliche derives her information from family magazines reports and advice columns in newspapers people's life stories the records of the Montreal Juvenile Court and even comic strips Two dates are given particular focus 1920 with the trial of the parents of Aurore Gagnon which sensitized the public to the phenomenon of child martyrs and 1940 with the advent of the New Education movement which was based on psychology rather than strict discipline and religious doctrine There has always been child abuse What has changed is society's sensitivity to it That is why defenders of children's rights call for the repeal of Section 43 of the Canadian Criminal Code which authorizes reasonable corporal punishment Abuse or Punishment considers not only the history of violence towards children in Quebec but the history of public perception of this violence and what it means for the rest of Canada

The Search for Wholeness and Diaspora

Literacy in Contemporary African American Literature Silvia Castro-Borrego, 2011-05-25 This volume has as a cohesive argument the exploration of the different manifestations of the search for wholeness and spirituality in the writings of contemporary African American women writers covering different literary genres such as fiction both novels and short stories drama and poetry Together with the issue of spirituality the African American search for wholeness is analyzed as a source of creativity and agency As expressed in the contemporary literature of black women writers starting in the 1980s the search for wholeness reflects a beauty realized through the healing of the spirit and the body and is a process that takes on dimensions of reconciling the past and the present the mythical and the real the spiritual and the physical all in the context of an emerging world view that welcomes synthesis and expects both synthesis and generative contradictions The book will be a valuable collection for scholars of African American literature comparative American Ethnic literature American literature and spirituality as well as women s studies In addition it will be an important text for both undergraduate and graduate students in those fields As Professor Johnnella Butler 2006 points out the African American search for wholeness is tightly linked to the search for freedom and agency Ever since the 19th century African American writers have given expression to an African American self which functions in Western civilization simultaneously as a colonized other and an assertive self Due to the continuous ordeal of the African Diaspora this self is caught in between the binaries proposed by the material and the spiritual world seeking a balance where the person can become whole The search for wholeness feeds from cultural roots that imply the presence of ancestral spiritualism rememory and double consciousness Contemporary black women writers reflect the metaphor of building spiritual bridges seeking the possibilities of building a bridge to the archetypal African past that is carried in their memories as a presence that offers sustenance via spiritual reconnection Their works seek to bridge the gap between the myths and traditions of the past and contemporary African American culture The texts included in this collection are examples of writing as an exercise of what V v Clark calls Diaspora literacy The texts written by contemporary African American women writers explicitly show how to recognize and read the cultural signs left scattered along the road of progress In this way material acquisition is achieved along with cultural dispossession becoming a metaphor for the history of the African in America The powerful message is that one should not exclude the other

Resilience in Palliative Care Barbara Monroe, David Oliviere, 2007-09-06 The first book of its kind Resilience and Palliative Care Achievement in adversity takes the increasing international literature on resilience and applies it to palliative and end of life care The book offers an overview of all key aspects of palliative care presented through a resilience perspective Why do some patients and families break down while others surmounts the challenges facing them What interventions strengthen individual family and community coping This book aims to facilitate change with people facing the crisis of death dying and bereavement Much of the existing literature has focused on risk problems and vulnerability the emerging concept of resilience focuses on strengths and possibilities The total pain total care approach pioneered by Dame Cicely Saunders and St Christopher s Hospice now needs reinterpreting in the light of changing contexts and challenges The realities of demographic change and resource constrained health and social care environments have generated an increasingly risk focused approach to service delivery A narrowly medicalised approach has inevitable limitations professional care alone will be unable to meet need and demand in the face of ageing populations changing patterns of illness and the need for equity The resilience approach offers a counterbalance that harnesses the strengths of individuals and the communities in which they live and in which most of their dying will take place Resilience thinking emphasises the importance of public health and creates a partnership between patients professionals and community structures seeking to build community capacity and to deliver a preventive health care that will leave future generations less afraid of the dying and bereavement that will confront all of us This book offers insights into how at all levels of planning and delivering palliative care there is the opportunity to maximise coping build an infrastructure for self help and increase the capacity of strengthened teams and organisations
