Practitioners' Guide to Human Rights Law in Armed Conflict Daragh Murray, 2016-11-03 Although the relationship between international human rights law and the law of armed conflict has been the subject of significant recent academic discussion there remains a lack of comprehensive guidance in identifying the law applicable to specific situations faced by military forces Providing guidance for armed forces and practitioners on the detailed application of international human rights law during armed conflict this book fills that gap Part 1 of the volume details foundational information relating to international human rights law and human rights institutions the types of operations that States armed forces engage in and how the law of armed conflict and international human rights law apply to regulate different situations Part 2 provides practical guidance as to the legal regulation of specific situations including discussion of the conduct of hostilities detention operations humanitarian assistance cyber operations and investigations This book is the result of an in depth process involving both academic and practitioner experts in the law of armed conflict and international human rights law who were convened in meetings at Chatham House chaired by Elizabeth Wilmshurst Distinguished Fellow at Chatham House The group included Professor Francoise Hampson Essex University Professor Dapo Akande Oxford University Charles Garraway Fellow at Essex University Professor Noam Lubell Essex University Michael Meyer British Red Cross and Daragh Murray Lecturer at Essex University

Gender and International Criminal Law Indira Rosenthal, Valerie Oosterveld, Susana SáCouto, 2022-06-16 The last few decades have seen remarkable developments in international criminal justice especially in relation to the pursuit of individuals responsible for sexual violence and other gender based crimes Historically ignored justified or minimised this category of crimes now has a heightened profile in the international political and judicial arena Despite this gender is poorly understood and blind spots biases and stereotypes prevail This book brings together leading feminist international criminal and humanitarian law academics and practitioners to examine the place of gender in international criminal law ICL It identifies and analyses past and current narrow understandings of gender before considering how a limited conceptualization affects accountability efforts The authors consider how best to implement a more nuanced understanding of gender in the practice of international criminal law by identifying possible responses including embedding a sophisticated gender strategy into the practice of ICL the gender sensitive application of international human rights and humanitarian law and encouraging a gender competent approach to judging in ICL The authors aim is to strengthen efforts for accountability for all atrocity crimes war crimes crimes against humanity genocide and aggression Judicial Reconstruction and the Rule of Law Angeline Lewis, 2012-08-27 The idea of building a blueprint rule of law through military intervention has seized the imagination of practitioners and theorists alike in the past decade of peacebuilding operations and an emphasis on simultaneous judicial reconstruction and security sector reform has emerged as their central strategy This work in a fresh approach based on recent military operations in Iraq and beyond challenges both the universality of the blueprint and the doctrinal assumption that institutional reform by military interveners builds peace and legitimacy In a comprehensive review the essential role of the community in developing its own relationship with law while interveners refocus exclusively on restoring public security using their extraordinary powers under international humanitarian law emerges as the only future for rule of law operations Research Report U.S. Army Research Institute for the Behavioral and Social Sciences, 1973 The Prevention of Human Rights Violations Christiane Bourloyannis-Vrailas, Linos-Alexander Sicilianos, 2021-10-18 The persistence of human rights violations around the world clearly demonstrates the need to focus more attention on preventive action Consequently international organizations are increasingly strengthening the preventive dimension of their human rights activities Preventive mechanisms have also emerged and continue to gain ground at the national level These new realities however seem to have received little attention by the academic community Yet they raise many important issues which need to be further explored The above considerations prompted the Marangopoulos Foundation for Human Rights to mark its twentieth anniversary by organizing an International Colloquy on the topic of the prevention of human rights violations The present Volume contains contributions by the participants based on the reports they presented at the Colloquy substantially revised and updated It constitutes the first attempt at a systematic analysis of the subject of the prevention of human rights violations focusing on the following five aspects conventional regimes non conventional monitoring mechanisms international commissioners and Ombudsmen national Ombudsmen and human rights institutions and the development of a human rights culture It closes with a theoretical synthesis of the various approaches to the prevention of human rights violations focusing on the context the concept and function as well as methods and techniques of prevention Monthly Catalogue, United States Public Documents, 1989-05 International Prosecutors Luc Reydam, Jan Wouters, Cedric Ryngaert, 2012-05-31 This volume examines the prosecution as an institution and a function in a dozen international and hybrid criminal tribunals from Nuremberg to the International Criminal Court It is the result of a sustained collaborative effort among some twenty scholars and former tribunal staffers The starting point is that the prosecution shapes a tribunal's practice and legacy more than any other organ and that a systematic examination of international prosecutors is therefore warranted. The chapters are organized chronologically according to the successive phases of the life of the institution and the various stages of the trials. The analysis includes each institution's establishment, mandate and jurisdiction as well as the prosecutorial framework and strategy, the prosecutor's external relations and the completion of the institution's work. The book also considers the prosecutors' independence and impartiality and their accountability for their decisions. The volume thus provides a comprehensive picture of the mandate, organization and operation of the prosecution in international criminal trials. As the first comprehensive study of an international legal actor whose decisions have widespread political repercussions, this book will be essential reading for all with an interest in international criminal justice.
