Overview - The Quick Pitch

This is a brief section that describes what your business or project is all about.

The Problem

Here is where you describe the problem that you are solving.

- What is the problem and how big is it?
- What is the target audience? Who is this problem affecting?
- Are there currently any solutions to this problem? Who is the competition?

The Solution

Here you describe how your business solves the problem for your target audience.

- How does your business solve the problem?
- Is it a simple or complex solution?
- If it is complex, how can you make it simple, or describe it more simply?

Highlights

Here you can show the most important market analysis and data that captures the potential your solution can have in the marketplace. We recommend putting the most competing highlights from your plan or proposal. You can also talk about the strengths and advantages of your staff and any partnerships you may have.

Newsletter Template

Created with Vertex42.com

To see the different themes, click on Themes under the Design tab. You'll see a dropdown of many premade themes. Hovering over the themes with your mouse will show you a preview of what your newsletter will look like. Click on the theme you like to apply it to the document.

You can take things a step further by saving your own design as a theme. After you've modified your current theme's colors, paragraph styles and fonts, select "Save Current Theme" under Design > Document Formatting > Themes.

Paragraph Styles

How to apply and change paragraph styles

To make it even easier to make your imported text match the design you see here, we've used the built-in paragraph styles. Under Home > Styles you'll see a variety of preset paragraph styles. To make content like the text your reading now, use the "Normal" paragraph style.

Important: The first thing you should do when you import your own text is to select all of it and apply the "Normal" paragraph style to it.

Progress in Pattern Recognition, Image Analysis, Computer Vision, and Applications Isabelle Bloch, Roberto M. Cesar, Jr., 2010-11-02. Pattern recognition is a central topic in contemporary computer sciences with continuously evolving topics, challenges, and methods including machine learning, content-based image retrieval, and model and knowledge-based approaches. Just to name a few: The Iberoamerican Congress on Pattern Recognition CIARP has become established as a high quality conference highlighting the recent evolution of the domain. These proceedings include all papers presented during the 15th edition of this conference held in Sao Paulo, Brazil, in November 2010. As was the case for previous conferences, CIARP 2010 attracted participants from around the world with the aim of promoting and disseminating going research on mathematical methods and computing techniques for pattern recognition, computer vision, image analysis, and speech recognition as well as their applications in such diverse areas as robotics, health, entertainment, space exploration, telecommunications, data mining, document analysis, and natural language processing and recognition, to name only a few of them. Moreover, it provided a forum for scientific research, experience exchange, sharing new knowledge, and increasing cooperation between research groups in pattern recognition and related areas. It is important to underline that these conferences have contributed significantly to the growth of national associations for pattern recognition in the Iberoamerican region, all of them as members of the International Association for Pattern Recognition (IAPR).
