Sten Mkii 9mm Manual:

The Sten Gun Leroy Thompson, 2012-09-20 The Sten submachine gun officially the Carbine Machine Sten was developed to fulfill the pressing British need for large quantities of cheaply produced weapons after Dunkirk when German invasion was a very real possibility Over four million were built during World War II and the Sten was widely used by airborne troops tankers and others who needed a compact weapon with substantial firepower It proved especially popular with Resistance fighters as it was easy to conceal deadly at close range and could fire captured German ammunition with a design so simple that Resistance fighters were able to produce them in bicycle shops Featuring vivid first hand accounts specially commissioned full colour artwork and close up photographs this is the fascinating story of the mass produced submachine gun that provided Allied soldiers and Resistance fighters with devastating close range firepower Churchill's Army

Stephen Bull, 2016-09-22 Winston Churchill Britain's iconic war time Prime Minister is inextricably linked with the victorious British Army of 1939 to 1945 Yet hindsight propaganda and the imperative of the defeat of Hitler and Imperial Japan have led to a tendency to oversimplify the image of Churchill the war leader and his Army For whilst Churchill was undeniably a towering statesman his relations with both the Army and War Office were ambiguous and altered considerably not only with the progress of the Second World War but over decades In this comprehensive book Stephen Bull examines every aspect of the British Army during the Second World War and considers in detail the strengths and weaknesses of an organisation that was tested to its limits on many fronts but made an immense contribution to the successful Allied outcome The book explores the structure of military power from the men who ran it the Generals to the detail of the regiments they commanded It looks at the uniforms the soldiers wore and the badges and insignia they bore on their uniforms The weaponry Churchill's army used is discussed in detail from small arms including rifles bayonets grenades carbines and machine guns to the massed firepower of the artillery along with the increasing sophistication of tanks and other military vehicles during the period Finally the role of auxiliary and special forces and their contribution to the campaign is considered The comprehensive text is enhanced by more than 200 contemporary photographs Britain's Final Defence Dale Clarke, 2016-11-07 Known affectionately as Dad's Army the Home Guard was Britain's very serious attempt to protect our shores from invasion by Nazi Germany in the Second World War In the Spitfire summer of 1940 all that the 1 million unpaid untrained part timers of the Local Defence Volunteers as the organisation was originally called wanted was a service rifle for each man but even that was too much for a country threatened by defeat to provide Britain's Final Defence is the first book to explore the efforts made to arm the home defence force between 1940 and 1944 and describe the full range of weaponry available for Britain's last stand against invading Axis forces Small Arms of the World Edward Clinton Ezell, Walter Harold Black Smith, Thomas M. Company of Dagenham Essex England from 1940 until the company closed in 1989 The Lanchester and the Patchett Machine Carbines were both developed at Sterling Engineering Co Ltd during World War II With the appearance of the earliest Patchett prototypes the military began testing them in ever more rigorous trials wherein the Patchett kept proving its merits This led to limited UK adoption of the MkII Patchett as the L2A1 in 1953 and the first Sterling the MkII as the L2A2 in 1955 Then came Sterling s Crown Jewel the superb Mk4 adopted as the general issue UK Gun Sub Machine L2A3 in September 1955 Manufactured briefly but intensively by ROF Fazakerley 1955 1959 and by Sterling for over 30 years nearly 4 000 000 were made Unlike wraparound bolt designs like the UZI the Sterling was capable of being truly silenced with standard 9mm ball ammunition as opposed to being merely suppressed The excellent silenced Sterling Patchett Mk5 adopted as the UK L34A1 in 1967 is the only Sterling remaining in British Service All prototypes military Marks commercial and licensed production models of the Sterling are described including the Canadian C1 SMG and the Indian 1A Carbine Contains notes on manufacturing methods and procedures as used at Sterling ROF Fazakerley Canadian Arsenals Limited and the Indian Small Arms Factory Kanpur Cawnpore plus extensive notes on inter model interchangeability serial number ranges quantities produced client country purchases of the various Sterling Marks and accessories Praise for A History of the Small Arms made by the Sterling Armament Company If you have an interest in small arms then this is a book that belongs in your library or book shelf The book does a great job of providing the reader with the story of the weapons that evolved into the Sterling sub machine gun and the changes in design that took place over that history The result was a weapon that served in many fields of conflict and performed admirably Armorama

Valentine Infantry Tank 1938-45 Bruce Newsome,2016-04-21 The Valentine was the most produced and most widely used British tank of the Second World War The Valentine first saw combat during Operation Compass in November 1941 and remained one of the main medium tanks in British service into 1943 As the Churchill became more prevalent the Valentine was relegated to specialist and tank destroyer variants which would remain in service in the Far East to the end of the war This book describes the evolution of the Valentine design and weighs up its impact on the battlefield Although widely regarded today as one of the weaker tanks to be fielded during the war it was exceptionally numerous with more Valentines produced than any other British tank
