Walking to New Orleans Robert R. N. Ross, Deanne E. B. Ross, 2008-09-22 Two and a half years after the devastation of Hurricanes Katrina and Rita New Orleans and south Louisiana continue to struggle in an unsettled gumbo of environmental social and rebuilding chaos Citizens await the fruition of four successive recovery and reconstruction planning processes and the realization of essential infrastructure repairs Repopulation in Orleans Parish has slowed considerably the parish remains at best two thirds of its former size thousands of former residents who wish to return face barriers of many kinds Heroic efforts at rebuilding have occurred through the efforts of individual neighborhood associations and voluntary associations who have attempted to address serious losses in affordable housing and health care services Walking to New Orleans traces how a dominant but paradoxical model of the relation between the human and natural worlds in Western culture has informed many environmental and engineering dilemmas and has contributed to the history of social inequities and injustice that anteceded the disasters of the hurricanes and subsequent flooding It proposes a model for collaborative recovery that links principles of ethics and engineering in which citizens become active ongoing participants in the process of the reconstruction and redesign of their unique locus of habitation Equally important it gives voice to the citizens and associations who are desperately working to rebuild their homes and lives both in urban New Orleans and in the villages of coastal Louisiana New in New Orleans Architecture John Klingman,2012-03-01 The best of contemporary New Orleans architecture From commercial buildings to residential dwellings this pictorial guide compiles descriptions of more than eighty architecture projects from the last fifteen years Establishments include Octavia Books the Ogden Museum of Art and the Cotton Mill The Repopulation of New Orleans After Hurricane Katrina Kevin F. McCarthy,D. J.

Peterson,Narayan Sastry,Michael Pollard,2006-04-05 In November 2005 New Orleans city leaders asked RAND to estimate the repopulation of the city in the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina The Bring New Orleans Back Commission needed estimates of the city s population in the immediate and near term future to guide the redevelopment planning process An assessment of flood damage to housing based on the depth of floodwater and the likely pace of reconstruction of damaged housing guided the estimates Innovations Through Information Technology Information Resources Management Association.

International Conference,2004-01-01 Innovations Through Information Technology aims to provide a collection of unique perspectives on the issues surrounding the management of information technology in organizations around the world and the ways in which these issues are addressed This valuable book is a compilation of features including the latest research in the area of IT utilization and management in addition to being a valuable source in support of teaching and research agendas

Design for Flooding Donald Watson,Michele Adams,2010-10-19 Design for Flooding contains considerable useful information for practitioners and students Watson and Adams fill the void for new thinking and they advance our ability to create more sustainable regenerative and resilient places Landscape Architecture Magazine New Orleans Under Reconstruction Carol M. Reese,Michael Sorkin,Anthony Fontenot,2014-07-08 When the levees broke in August 2005 as a result of Hurricane Katrina 80 percent of the city of New Orleans was flooded with a loss of 134 000 homes and 986 lives In particular the devastation hit the vulnerable communities the hardest the old the poor and the African American The disaster exposed the hideous inequality of the city In response to the disaster numerous plans designs and projects were proposed This bold challenging and informed book gathers together the variety of responses from politicians writers architects and planners and searches for the answers of one of the most important issues of our age How can we plan for the future creating a more robust and equal place Linking Architecture and Education Anne Taylor,2009-05-16 For the past forty years

Anne Taylor has studied how schools classrooms playgrounds homes museums and parks affect children and how they learn As a result she has developed a holistic sustainable philosophy of learning environment design She argues persuasively that architects must integrate their design knowledge with an understanding of the developmental needs of learners while at the same time educators parents and students must broaden their awareness of the built natural and cultural environment to maximize the learning experience In other words schools and other environments can themselves become three dimensional textbooks When architects are cognizant of newer models of education and educators view the environment as more than a box in which to teach prescribed lessons the result is an informed architecture that enables children to discover the power of their own learning The book presents numerous examples of dynamic designs that are the result of interdisciplinary understanding of place Taylor includes designer perspectives forums derived from commentary by outside contributors involved in school planning and a wealth of photographs of thoughtful and effective solutions to create learning environments from comprehensive design criteria Because the concept of school is enlarged to a community campus the book also spawns a new model of teaching and learning This book is essential reading for educators architects and community members who are anxious to transform education in America and elsewhere Anne Taylor is the most outstanding educator leading proponent and practitioner in the three dimensional textbook field Her work is the finest resource available for connecting students young and old to their learning environments and visa versa Edward E Kirkbride NCARB REFP Before Western man divided the universe into discrete subject matter areas the order in the universe was and still is both interdisciplinary and holistic The branching of trees spiraling of shells meandering of streams and the radial designs of flowers for example represent an analogy of mathematics biology and art The current artificial separation of subject matter is in contrast to the way the world is constructed and the way children perceive it Architecture and the study of the built natural and cultural environment synthesize the world of material things and the world of ideas Further more it helps us to realize that we are a part of not apart from the environment This book is a tool and a gift to designers educators and students everywhere to assist them in seeing the meaning behind all that we view and use for living on earth To know our precious relationship to our surroundings is the intent of this book In this way life is a work of art and each of us is an artist Anne Taylor

Coming Home to New Orleans Karl F. Seidman, 2013-03-04 Coming Home to New Orleans documents grassroots rebuilding efforts in New Orleans neighborhoods after hurricane Katrina and draws lessons on their contribution to the post disaster recovery of cities The book begins with two chapters that address Katrina s impact and the planning and public sector recovery policies that set the context for neighborhood recovery Rebuilding narratives for six New Orleans neighborhoods are then presented and analyzed In the heavily flooded Broadmoor and Village de L Est neighborhoods residents coalesced around communitywide initiatives one through a neighborhood association and the second under church leadership to help homeowners return and restore housing get key public facilities and businesses rebuilt and create new community based organizations and civic capacity A comparison of four adjacent neighborhoods in the center of the city show how differing socioeconomic conditions geography government policies and neighborhood capacity created varied recovery trajectories The concluding chapter argues that grassroots and neighborhood scale initiatives can make important contributions to city recovery in four areas repopulation restoring complete neighborhoods with key services and amenities rebuilding parts of the small business economy and enhancing recovery capacity It also calls for more balanced investments and policies to rebuild rental and owner occupied housing and more deliberate collaboration with community based organizations to undertake and implement recovery plans and proposes changes to federal disaster recovery policies and programs to leverage the contribution of grassroots rebuilding and more support for city recovery The U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs Construction Process United States. Congress. House. Committee on Veterans' Affairs. Subcommittee on Health,2008
