

Model 2 – Random Sampling Method

- a. According to Model 2, what is the probability of selecting a red die in a random draw out of the bag?

The probability of selecting a red die in a random draw out of the bag is 50% because there are 5 red dice.

- b. Suppose you draw a die from the bag and find it is red. How does this information in a random draw impact on the probability of selecting a red die in a subsequent draw? Explain.

The probability of selecting a red die is determined by using replacement, not by putting the die away. For 1-10 balls, the probability was 10% and then 9% because the balls were replaced. But the probability changes if you don't get either thing or that you whether you get and use the same thing again or not.
