In late 1961, with the Pearl River now diverted from its old channel to flow through the new spillway, the two center blocks are left open to keep from flooding more than the planned area at this time. When more land clearing was done in 1962, the filling of the 31,000-acre lake would be completed. The spillway gates (one closed at left, the two at right opened) are 21 feet high and 40 feet wide, and there are 10 of them. An emergency spillway is at the south end of the dam.
