Quality Assurance and University Rankings in the Asia Pacific:

Country and Institutional Contexts (Penerbit USM) Koo Yew Lie,Sarjit Kaur,Morshidi Sirat,2011 University league tables at national regional international levels are increasingly complex influential and controversial In spite of criticisms on robustness of methodology and bias of indicators higher education institutions continue to have an appetite for them and use or misuse them in their planning policymaking and promotion activities This publication will contribute to the much needed analysis of the implications benefits and unintended consequences related to rankings and the broader issues of quality assurance in the Asia Pacific region Quality in Higher Education David Andrew Turner,2012-01-01 The quality of higher education is a hot topic especially as students around the world are asked to pay more towards their own education and expect to get what they pay for In addition league tables both national and international have come to dominate discussion with several governments and many institutions setting themselves the goal of improving their ratings In this volume Professor Turner examines the assumptions that are being made about what counts as quality and what the traditional purposes of universities are But with the growth of mass higher education and the rise of student centred approaches to learning and teaching it has become increasingly clear that high quality education is education that meets the needs of the student at that particular moment and promotes their future development After examining a range of different approaches to the quality of higher education and its measurement Professor Turner develops an approach to benchmarking and quality enhancement that is better suited to the ethos of individualised learning and uses it to critique the philosophies that have dominated debates about quality to date This book will be of interest to scholars of higher education but also has something important to add to debates that engage policy makers in higher education It provides a background to the historical development of universities which might help postgraduate students and new members of faculty understand the process in which they are engaged Gender Issues in Learning and Working with Information Technology: Social Constructs and Cultural Contexts Booth, Shirley,Goodman, Sara,Kirkup, Gill,2010-05-31 This book deals with four features of the burgeoning knowledge society gender equity learning and information technology with the focus on gender not in the taken for granted biological sense of sex but in the socially constituted sense of it Provided by publisher Creating the Ethical Academy Tricia Bertram Gallant,2011-09-22 In this edited volume higher education experts and scholars tackle the challenge of understanding why ethical misconduct occurs in the academy and how we can address it Digital Information Hazel M. Woodward,Lorraine Estelle,2010 If the vision for the future of digital information is order ease of access discoverable resources and sustainable business models how might this be achieved In an information environment shaped by an ever growing and persistent demand for more and more digital content from every direction it has become increasingly important that publishers libraries and information professionals understand the challenges and opportunities of the Google environment This book addresses these issues and carves out a strategy for the future of digital information Put together by an international cross sectoral team of contributors each authored chapter provides a snapshot of where we are now and considers how the barriers to success might be overcome and what the digital information environment might look like if these issues are or indeed are not addressed They include digital information an overview of the landscape scholarly communications the view from the library scholarly communications the publisher s view e books and scholarly communication futures digitizing the past next steps for public sector digitization resource discovery who owns the content in the digital environment Readership This book is essential reading for all library and information professionals as well as for researchers and library students The book will also be of interest to publishers wishing to reconcile their own digital strategies with those of both information consumers and providers

Human Resource Management in Indonesia Jenny S Lange, 2010-06 Indonesia with over 240 million people and rich of natural resources and abundant human resources is very attractive for investors operating in wide array of industries Many reports on Human Resource Management HRM and the English journals have written about the developing countries in Europe Africa and Asia countries such as Hong Kong China and India but surprisingly writing on HRM issues in Indonesia has been rare and mainly limited to labor economics and macro level Human Resources Development Therefore this thesis intends to make a contribution to literatures of HRM issues in Indonesia with the example for German companies which are establishing their subsidiaries in Indonesia This book examines Human Resource Management Issues in Indonesia from environment context such as political economical socio cultural technological environmental and legal perspective PESTEL Analysis culture dimension difference between Indonesia and Germany and the current issues of managing human resources in Indonesia by firms especially for multinational companies such as issues of general condition of labors recruitment and selection process compensation appraisal performance management trade unions and gender Regarding HRM issues the study has also shown that foreign companies have many threats if they establish their subsidiaries in Indonesia But on the other hand Indonesia has some strengths and already improved some essential sectors that should be considered as opportunities for foreign companies such as abundance in labors rich natural resources good international relationships increasing foreign trades and FDI growing telecommunication development and starts improving national education and health As conclusion the HRM issues for foreign companies establishing a subsidiary in Indonesia are very complex especially due to environment aspects and culture dimension difference However through understanding culture dimension of Indonesian societies use the opportunities and minimize the risks managing people in Indonesia is not an impossible mission

One World, Many Knowledges Tar Halvorsen, Peter Vale, 2016-05-12 Various forms of academic co operation criss cross the modern university system in a bewildering number of ways from the open exchange of ideas and knowledge to the sharing of research results and frank discussions about research challenges Embedded in these scholarly networks is the question of whether a global template for the management of both higher education and national research organisations is necessary and if so must institutions slavishly follow the high flown language of the global knowledge society or risk falling behind in the ubiquitous university ranking system Or are there alternatives that can achieve a better more ethically inclined world Basing their observations on their own experiences an interesting mix of seasoned scholars and new voices from southern Africa and the Nordic region offer critical perspectives on issues of inter and cross regional academic co operation Several of the chapters also touch on the evolution of the higher education sector in the two regions An absorbing and intelligent study this book will be invaluable for anyone interested in the strategies scholars are using to adapt to the interconnectedness of the modern world It offers fresh insights into how academics are attempting to protect the spaces in which they can freely and openly debate the challenges they face while aiming to transform higher education and foster scholarly collaboration The Southern African Nordic Centre SANORD is a partnership of higher education institutions from Denmark Finland Iceland Norway Sweden Botswana Namibia Malawi South Africa Zambia and Zimbabwe SANORDs primary aim is to promote multilateral research co operation on matters of importance to the development of both regions Our activities are based on the values of democracy equity and mutually beneficial academic engagement

Universities as Engines of Economic Development Edward Crawley, John Hegarty, Kristina Edström, Juan Cristobal Garcia Sanchez, 2020-06-22 This book describes patterns of behavior that collectively allow universities to exchange knowledge more effectively with industry accelerate innovation and eventually contribute to economic development These are based on the effective practices of leading and ambitious universities around the world that the authors have benchmarked and the personal experiences of the authors in a number of international institution building projects including those of MIT The authors provide guidance that is globally applicable but must be locally adapted The approach is first to describe the context in which universities act as engines of economic development and then present a set of effective practices in four domains education research innovation and supporting practices Each of these domains has three to six practices and each practice is presented in a similar template with an abstract a rationale and description key actions and one or two mini case studies The practices are summarized by integrative case studies The book Focuses on a globally adaptable set of effective practices complemented by case studies that can enhance universities contribution to economic development based on an integrated view of education research and innovation Presents effective practices and broader insights that come from real global experience spelled out in templates and explained by cases Includes tangible resources for university leaders policy makers and funders on how to proceed
