World Cinema and the Essay Film Hollweg Brenda Hollweg,2019-05-29 World Cinema and the Essay Film examines the ways in which essay film practices are deployed by non Western filmmakers in specific local and national contexts in an interconnected world The book identifies the essay film as a political and ethical tool to reflect upon and potentially resist the multiple often contradictory effects of globalization With case studies of essayistic works by John Akomfrah Nguyen Trinh Thi and Apichatpong Weerasethakul amongst many others and with a photo essay by Trinh T Min ha and a discussion of Frances Calvert s work it expands current research on the essay film beyond canonical filmmakers and frameworks and presents transnational perspectives on what is becoming a global film practice

The Case for the Humanities Eric Touya de Marenne,2016-12-01 Countering the perception that the humanities are unessential this volume contends that their well being has not only academic but also cultural political and existential ramifications Our technologically driven world possesses the means of its own destruction while economic and financial policies undermine the very existence of our democracy At the same time the postmodern and post human age fundamentally challenges our ability and legitimacy to conceive future ideals It is within this context that the humanities provide essential paths through which the teaching and knowledge of other academic fields such as STEM and economics must be re envisioned In short the humanities must be brought back to the center of academic life The political and pedagogical implications of this interdisciplinary study thus entail a renewed critique to rethink the relation between higher education society and the world at large politically economically scientifically and technologically and the importance of the humanities within it At the heart of this reconsideration the humanities and humanity s fate and future become one

The Motherhood Affidavits Laura Jean Baker, 2018-04-03 Laura Jean Baker has written a beautiful and brave memoir of motherhood and its discontents which are indistinguishable from its joys This is a warmly intimate yet intellectually provocative personal document of originality and considerable charm Joyce Carol Oates With the birth of her first child soon to be professor Laura Jean Baker finds herself electrified by oxytocin the love hormone the first effective antidote to her lifelong depression Over the next eight years her oxy cravings and her family only grow to the dismay of her husband Ryan a freelance public defender As her reckless baby making threatens her family s middle class existence Baker identifies more and more with Ryan s legal clients often drug addled fellow citizens of Oshkosh Wisconsin Is she any less desperate for her next fix Baker is in an impossible bind The same drive that sustains her endangers her family the cure is also the disease She explores this all too human paradox by threading her story through those of her local counterparts who ve run afoul of the law like Rob McNally the lovable junkie who keeps resurfacing in Ryan s life As Baker vividly reports on their alleged crimes theft kidnapping opioid abuse and even murder she unerringly conjures tenderness for the accused yet increasingly questions her own innocence Baker s ruthless self interrogation makes this her personal affidavit her sworn statement made for public record if not a court of law With a wrenching ending that compels us to ask whether Baker has fallen from maternal grace this is an extraordinary addition to the literature of motherhood

Essays on the Essay Film Nora M. Alter, Timothy Corrigan, 2017-03-14 The essay with its emphasis on the provisional and explorative rather than on definitive statements has evolved from its literary beginnings and is now found in all mediums including film Today the essay film is arguably one of the most widely acclaimed and critically discussed forms of filmmaking around the world with practitioners such as Chris Marker Hito Steyerl Errol Morris Trinh T Minh ha and Rithy Panh Characteristics of the essay film include the blending of fact and fiction the mixing of art and documentary film styles the foregrounding of subjective points of view a concentration on public life a tension between acoustic and visual discourses and a dialogic encounter with audiences This anthology of fundamental statements on the essay film offers a range of crucial historical and philosophical perspectives It provides early critical articulations of the essay film as it evolved through the 1950s and 1960s key contemporary scholarly essays and a selection of writings by essay

Eliot's poetry resistance to disgust in James Joyce's novels and the fusion of irreverence protest and praise in W.H. Auden's writings before 1940 The book's conclusion considers the risks of informality through a discussion of what it calls inverted dignity The theoretical aspects of the book offer insights into Lockean liberalism the ethical dimensions of what Hélène Cixous termed feminine writing relations of sublimity and domesticity Sigmund Freud's arguments on humour and melancholia and recent affect theory's as well as Immanuel Kant's and Friedrich Nietzsche's views on disgust linking these with modernism This wide range of engagement makes this study relevant for those interested in literary studies critical theory and philosophy      Contemporary Adulthood and the Night-Time Economy O. Smith,2014-07-22 This book examines the experiences of those dedicated drinkers at the forefront of the new night time leisure industries that revolutionized the way we think about our city centres Smith uses the night time leisure economy as a lens through which to view the relationship between global consumer capital and the erosion of traditional adulthood      A Pluralist Theory of the Mind David Ludwig,2015-10-22 This book challenges common debates in philosophy of mind by questioning the framework of placement problems in contemporary metaphysics

The author argues that placement problems arise when exactly one fundamental ontology serves as the base for all entities and will propose a pluralist alternative that takes the diversity of our conceptual resources and ontologies seriously. This general pluralist account is applied to issues in philosophy of mind to argue that contemporary debates about the mind-body problem are built on this problematic framework of placement problems. The starting point is the plurality of ontologies in scientific practice. Not only can we describe the world in terms of physical, biological, or psychological ontologies, but any serious engagement with scientific ontologies will identify more specific ontologies in each domain. For example, there is not one unified ontology for biology, but rather a diversity of scientific specializations with different ontological needs. Based on this account of scientific practice, the author argues that there is no reason to assume that ontological unification must be possible everywhere. Without this ideal, the scope of ontological unification turns out to be an open empirical question, and there is no need to present unification failures as philosophically puzzling placement problems.
