Our technologically advanced society has generated many rapid changes in higher education in recent years. These changes have been recently exacerbated by the global pandemic COVID-19. Educational institutions around the world have adapted to offering their programs by distance, usually via online computer platforms. While many levels of credentials already existed successfully online, the elite and difficult doctoral degree has remained largely traditional, a bricks and mortar program requiring attendance and perhaps a major lifestyle transition for learners. COVID has changed and will continue to change that. This book explores the world of online learning and online doctoral study post COVID and in the future. From should I undertake this learning to how to choose a supervisor and manage the online research experience using her years of experience and insight, the author has compiled a practical guide outlining not only how to successfully undertake online doctoral study but also how to wisely transfer that acquired online acumen beyond graduation into the academic life. Newly minted PhDs and EdDocs face a steep learning curve when entering the professorial life in the Ivory Tower of higher education. This down-to-earth, plain language and often humorous text explores the pedagogical advantages of the online experience and their usefulness to the new academic hire. Current doctoral learners, both traditional and online, as those mulling future educational plans and doctoral completers surveying higher education opportunities will benefit from the insight and advice in this very frank text. Commercial Law in Zambia Mumba Malila, 2005.
