Unspoken Book Henry Cole:

Unspoken Henry Cole, 2016-10-25 A Civil War era girl's courage is tested in this haunting wordless story. When a farm girl discovers a runaway slave hiding in the barn, she is at once startled and frightened. But the stranger's fearful eyes weigh upon her conscience and she must make a difficult choice. Will she have the courage to help him? Unspoken gifts of humanity unite the girl and the runaway as they each face a journey, one following the North Star, the other following her heart. Henry Cole's unusual and original rendering of the Underground Railroad speaks directly to our deepest sense of compassion. Praise for Unspoken: A New York Times Best Illustrated Book. Designed to present youngsters with a moral choice, the author, a former teacher, clearly intended Unspoken to be a challenging book. Its somber sepia tone drawings establish a mood of foreboding. The New York Times Book Review Moving and emotionally charged Kirkus Reviews starred review. Gorgeously rendered in soft dark pencils, this wordless book is reminiscent of the naturalistic pencil artistry of Maurice Sendak and Brian Selznick. School Library Journal starred review. Cole's beautifully detailed pencil drawings on cream-colored paper deftly visualize a family's ruggedly simple lifestyle on a Civil War era homestead while facing stark ethical choices. Cole conjures significant tension and emotional heft in this powerful tale of quiet camaraderie and courage. Publishers Weekly starred review.

Doing History Linda S. Levstik, Keith C. Barton, 2015-01-30 Now in its fifth edition, Doing History offers a unique perspective on teaching and learning history in the elementary and middle grades. Through case studies of teachers and students in diverse classrooms and from diverse backgrounds, it shows children engaging in authentic historical investigations often in the context of an integrated social studies curriculum. The premise is that children can engage in valid forms of historical inquiry: collecting and analyzing data, examining the perspectives of people in the past, considering multiple interpretations, and creating evidence-based historical accounts. Grounded in contemporary sociocultural theory and research, the text features vignettes in each chapter showing communities of teachers and students doing history in environments rich in literature, art, writing, discussion, and debate. The authors explain how the teaching demonstrated in the vignettes reflects basic principles of contemporary learning theory. Doing History emphasizes diversity of perspectives in two ways: readers encounter students from a variety of backgrounds, and students themselves look at history from multiple perspectives. It provides clear guidance in using multiple forms of assessment to evaluate the specifically historical aspects of children's learning.
