Deanship in the Global South Oliver J.J. Seale, 2021-02-08 The university today is a postmodern neo liberal competitive boundary less knowledge conglomerate a far cry from its historical traditional classical and collegial roots

There is a body of literature on deanship that points to its evolving nature in the contemporary academe characterised by complexity and change Balancing academic demands simultaneously with the requirements for effective performance leadership and management lies at the heart of this very challenging bridging role nowadays Deans are generally former academics emerging from a traditional collegial space and often catapulted into the relatively unknown domain of executive management with its related problems Deans nowadays are required to be more than collegial intellectual leaders They are also meant to be fiscal and human resource experts fundraisers politicians and diplomats Deanship in the Global South Bridging Troubled Waters is about the deans lived reality as they try to balance the demands of both the academe from which they emerge and the administration to whom they now need to account Their lack of preparation and inadequate support points to the need for a more strategic integrated approach to leadership development within their critical bridging roles between the academe and administration

Corrupted Jonathan D Jansen, 2023-02 Through investigatory reports and interviews Jonathan Jansen reveals the structural conditions for chronic dysfunction in a sample of South African universities He reveals the political economy at work and the intense competition for resources on campuses He also provides interventions for these fragile institutions Why do some universities seem to be in a constant state of turmoil and dysfunction Jonathan Jansen explores the root causes of chronic instability in a sample of South African universities Through scrutiny of investigatory reports and interviews with more than 100 university managers and government officials Jansen finds that at the heart of the dysfunction in universities is an intense and sometimes deadly competition for resources especially on campuses located in impoverished communities It is not the lack of institutional resources but their concentration in a university that draws a mix of corrupt actors from local politicians and taxi operators to members of council and management into a never ending run on the material such as money for infrastructure and symbolic namely graduation certificates for sale assets of these institutions Jansen argues that the problem won't be solved through investments in capacity building alone because the combination of institutional capacity and institutional integrity contributes to serial instability in universities Jansen makes an important intervention to understanding the root causes and offers interventions to produce stabilities such as the depoliticisation of university councils and appointing academics of integrity and capacity in the management and leadership of these fragile institutions This groundbreaking and long overdue study will offer a promising way forward for universities to better serve their communities and the country more broadly
