

QUESTION
A 60-year-old man with a 20-year history of type 2 diabetes mellitus presents with a 2-week history of increasing fatigue, weight loss, and decreased appetite. He reports that he has been unable to eat as much as he used to and has lost about 10 pounds (4.5 kg) in the last few months. He also mentions that he has been experiencing frequent urination and increased thirst. His medical history is significant for hypertension, hyperlipidemia, and chronic kidney disease (stage 3). He is currently taking metformin, insulin glargine, and lisinopril. His last hemoglobin A1c was 8.5%.

ANSWER
The patient's symptoms are consistent with hyperglycemia and its complications. The increased fatigue, weight loss, and decreased appetite suggest a catabolic state, which is often seen in uncontrolled diabetes. The frequent urination and increased thirst are classic signs of hyperglycemia. The patient's long-standing diabetes and recent increase in HbA1c further support this diagnosis. The weight loss is particularly concerning as it may indicate the onset of diabetic ketoacidosis (DKA) or a severe hypoglycemic episode. The patient's chronic kidney disease and hypertension may also contribute to his symptoms, but the primary concern is the uncontrolled diabetes.
