The Morph-Image Steen Ledet Christiansen, 2024-09-12 In The Morph Image The Subjunctive Synthesis of Time Steen Ledet Christiansen argues for a new model of digital cinema that draws on Deleuzian and Whiteheadian insights into time and the future This model insists that the philosophy of time must be rethought to provide a better understanding of the future and that the digital capacities of post cinema present occasions of thought well suited to this task The figure of the morph Christiansen posits allows a conception of how post cinema expresses time as a means of capture that appears liberatory but modulates subjectivities into temporal forms of control These temporal forms include digital animacies flows loops synthetic long takes and disjunctive editing all of which are false formations of freedom Ultimately the author positions the unruly creativity of an event's potential of making the impossible possible in order to bring about true advancements into novelty as escape from this dynamic This book contributes to both Deleuzian film theory and a burgeoning Whiteheadian film philosophy through deep engagement with key post cinematic films including Holy Motors Collateral Domino Limitless Spring Breakers and Everything Everywhere All at Once In doing so important concepts of potentiality actuality and the future are considered and addressed in relation to the contemporary capitalist regime of control Transcultural

Perspectives in Literature, Language, Art, and Politics Aristi Trendel, Indra Karapetjana, 2024-09-23 Transcultural Perspectives in Literature Language Art and Politics is a contribution to the field of transcultural studies that has been gaining ground since the turn of the twentieth century Embracing the transcultural lens in the humanities and social sciences it demonstrates how the relevance necessity and wide range of this approach can better enhance our understanding of the contemporary world as well as the past Though all the contributors have a humanities background they work in different research fields such as literary studies linguistics translation studies cinema or intellectual history and use a variety of theoretical frames A transdisciplinary framework also seems to be the most practical one to meet the challenges that transcultural phenomena and developments present In sixteen chapters organized in five sections literature translation and linguistics cinema communication and politics the volume explores the dynamics of transculturality at a micro and macro level its benefits and limits These studies suggest that transculturality is not only used as an intellectual working tool but also as an identity in motion that may represent a glimmer of hope in a world that seems to be in the throes of unreason and on the brink of self induced destruction
