good writer are familiar complaints from students in academia Many of them claim they cannot express themselves clearly in written text and their lack of this skill impedes them in their academic career In this book Nancy A Wasser argues that teachers can help solve this when they start viewing writing not as secondary to reading but as the equally important side of the same coin Those who cannot read will not be able to write Wasser explains how teaching and regular practicing of writing skills from an early age onwards helps children grow into students who are self aware of their voices By employing narrative as a process of learning to write and a way to read teachers can teach children the art of writing while also making children more aware of their own constructions of narrative Combining the focus on individual and group expression in writing lessons students can trace and reflect on their own life transformations through their writing process Good writers are not born that way but made through effort and practice Changes in curriculum may not only lead to better expressed citizens but also to more balance between teacher and children voices Creative Writing in the Community Terry Ann Thaxton, 2013-11-07 Creative Writing in the Community is the first book to focus on the practical side of creative writing Connecting classroom experiences to community based projects it prepares creative writing students for teaching in schools homeless centers youth clubs and care homes Each chapter is packed with easy to use resources including specific lesson plans case studies of students working with community groups lists of suitable writing examples how to sections examples and theoretical applications of creative writing pedagogy and techniques reflection questions writings by workshop participants Enhanced by contributions from directors students and teachers at successful public programs Creative Writing in the Community is more than an essential guide for students on creative writing courses and leaders of community based learning programs it is practical demonstration of the value of art in society A ^A Step-By-Step Guide for Coaching Classroom Teachers in Evidence-Based Interventions Dana D.
