Nurturing Your Child's Math and Literacy in Pre-K-Fifth Grade Mary Mueller, Alisa Hindin, 2016-11-23

With recent changes in the curriculum and standards in language arts and mathematics, parents often are challenged to find ways to help their children be successful in their learning endeavors. While parents want to be involved in their children's education, they are often unsure of their role in their children's learning and the best ways to help their children to succeed academically. Moreover, with the changes in how math and literacy are being taught, parents often struggle with helping even first-grade children with their homework. In this book, we set out to alleviate this struggle by offering parents a resource they can use to navigate their child's education, communicate with teachers, and support their children in learning mathematics and literacy. After providing an overview of the current educational climate and tips for communication with teachers, we share strategies and suggestions parents can use to assist their children in language arts and mathematics. We provide detailed descriptions of activities, games, books, and conversations that connect with what children will be learning at each grade level.

learning at the district and school levels It provides an overview of the components of learning technology these include student devices networking software productivity toolkits electronic curricula and resources and data system infrastructure And it discusses how we can manage our technology efforts more effectively to help our students attain the benefits of this technology The book concludes with case studies of how this is being done at pioneering districts We are now at a tipping point in implementing learning technology on a larger scale This is happening very quickly Historically learning technology was driven by a strategy of technology integration where we called on individual teachers to each determine how to use technology in their classes and make changes in their own ways of working But to successfully implement technology on the scale we need requires top down as well as bottom up efforts Managing the New Tools in K 12 Teaching and Learning focuses on how districts and schools can now use technology to bring about the big improvements in learning we are all striving for
