Cooper,Lawrence M. Seiford,Joe Zhu,2004-03-31 This Handbook has been developed as a comprehensive reference for researchers students and practitioners It reflects the state of the art in Data Envelopment Analysis It also represents a milestone in the progression of a continuously advancing methodology which has extensive utility Written by experts who are the major research contributors to the topics covered the Handbook is organized in three sections The first section is a comprehensive examination of the basic DEA models and DEA extensions The second section consists of a collection of coverages by persons experienced in applications to the areas of banking education sports retailing health care etc The final section is a review of current DEA software technology Tools and Techniques for Social Science Simulation Ramzi Suleiman,Klaus G. Troitzsch,Nigel Gilbert,2012-12-06 The use of computer simulations to study social phenomena has grown rapidly during the last few years Many social scientists from the fields of economics sociology psychology and other disciplines now use computer simulations to study a wide range of social phenomena The availability of powerful personal computers the development of multidisciplinary approaches and the use of artificial intelligence models have all contributed to this development The benefits of using computer simulations in the social sciences are obvious This holds true for the use of simulations as tools for theory building and for its implementation as a tool for sensitivity analysis and parameter optimization in application oriented models In both simulation provides powerful tools for the study of complex social systems especially for dynamic and multi agent social systems in which mathematical tractability is often impossible The graphical display of simulation output renders it user friendly to many social scientists that lack sufficient familiarity with the language of mathematics The present volume aims to contribute in four directions 1 To examine theoretical and methodological issues related to the application of simulations in the social sciences By this we wish to promote the objective of designing a unified user friendly simulation toolkit which could be applied to diverse social problems While no claim is made that this objective has been met the theoretical issues treated in Part 1 of this volume are a contribution towards this objective
