Refugee or the Narratives of Fugitive Slaves in Canada 1856 is a collection of his interviews with former slaves living in Canada who had escaped from the United States and an invaluable example of the transnational abolitionist movement's political agenda. These edited oral accounts show how these runaways turned into African Canadians and reconfigured new meanings of Blackness in Canada, set out the foundations of a Black Canadian sense of attachment, and eventually helped to reshape North America by contributing to the birth of the Canadian nation state.

Refugees from Slavery Benjamin Drew, 2012-11-13 A soul stirring account of the abuses suffered by refugees from Southern slave states as well as fresh insights into the workings of the plantation system.

Modernism's Inhuman Worlds Rasheed Tazudeen, 2024-08-15 Modernism's Inhuman Worlds explores the centrality of ecological precarity, species indeterminacy, planetary change, and the specter of extinction to modernist and contemporary metamodernist literatures. Modernist ecologies, Rasheed Tazudeen argues, emerge in response to the enigma of how to imagine inhuman being including soils, forests, oceans, and the earth itself through languages and epistemologies that have only ever been humanist. How might meta-modernist aesthetics help us to imagine with inhuman worlds including the worlds still to be made on the other side of mass extinction? Through innovative readings of canonical and emergent modernist and metamodernist works, Tazudeen theorizes inhuman modernism as a call toward further receptivity to the world's beings and relations that tend to go unthought within Western humanist epistemologies. Modernist engagements with the figures of enigma, riddle, and metaphor, according to the book's central argument, offer a means toward what Franz Kafka calls an otherwise speaking based on language's obliqueness to inhuman and planetary being. Drawing on ecocriticism, decolonial and feminist science studies, postcolonial theory, inhuman geography, and sound studies, Tazudeen analyzes an inhuman modernist lineage spanning from Darwin, Carroll, and Flaubert through Joyce, Kafka, and Woolf to contemporary poetic works as both part of a collaborative rethinking of modernism's planetary and inhuman aesthetics, as well as occasions for imagining new modes of livingness for the extinctions to come.

Virginia Woolf Julia Briggs, 2006 Julia Briggs has written a chronological exploration of Woolf's life that reads her life through her books, using the novels to create a new form of biography. Each chapter is illustrated with a sample of Woolf's original manuscript.

The Secret Life of Josephine Carolly Erickson, 2024-06-04 From the New York Times bestselling author, a novel about one of the most seductive women in history: Josephine Bonaparte, first wife of Napoleon. Born on the Caribbean island of Martinique, Josephine had an exotic Creole appeal that would ultimately propel her to reign over an empire as wife of the most powerful man in the world. But her life is a story of ambition and danger, of luck and a ferocious will to survive. Married young to an arrogant French aristocrat who died during the Terror, Josephine also narrowly missed losing her head to the guillotine. But her extraordinary charm, sensuality, and natural cunning helped her become mistress to some of the most powerful politicians in post-Revolutionary France. Soon she had married the much younger General Bonaparte, whose armies garnered France an empire that ran from Europe to Africa and the New World, and who crowned himself and his wife

Emperor and Empress of France He dominated on the battlefield and she presided over the worlds of fashion and glamor But Josephine s heart belonged to another man the mysterious compelling stranger who had won her as a girl in Martinique Rollicking good fun complete with all the dish on the great and powerful Kirkus Reviews Fans will enjoy this latest concoction Library Journal Erickson has deft hand with psychological portraiture and historical detail She strips away the romantic idealism with which the empress s life is often distorted Publishers Weekly
