Making Standards Useful in the Classroom Robert J. Marzano, Mark W. Haystead, 2008 It's true that state standards often have way too much content and aren't written in a way that enhances classroom instruction and formative assessment That's why this guide is invaluable for any educator who wants to ensure that standards actually lead to higher student achievement The authors give you good reasons for why some content standards should be dropped and explain how benchmark statements in standards should be rewritten Learn how to sequence content and set up grading scales that help facilitate formative assessment and effective instruction And get clear steps for unpacking and converting standards into guidelines that are much more useful to classroom teachers To implement this book's much more efficient approach the authors included over 240 pages of detailed scoring scales and sample measurement topics for K-8 science math language arts social studies and critical life skills topics for elementary through high school students

Blockchain: Simple Solution to US Debt Crisis John aka Raghu Giuffre, 2019-07-07 Raghu nomics estimates that 20%% to 80%% of all US debt does not actually exist depending upon the industry We refer to this as Phantom Debt We give the example of parents co signing a student loan of 50k for their college bound boy This same 50k would be reflected in both parent's credit scores This would now give the impression of 150k worth of total debt to an outsider auditor Expert We refer to the parent's loan as Mirror Debt A payment on that student loan would also be reflected to the parent's credit referred to as a Double Paydown and Leverage Debt Reduction Our case is simple Wall Street has created a series of products that are little more than duplicate Mirror Debts Surprisingly there is no tracking system to cross index all these Mirror Debts or follow payments made to one and credit to all the others A blockchain system is a rather simple remedy that would have sidestepped much of the 2008 market meltdown Today it would function like an insurance program
