Soccer Figurative Language:

Models of Figurative Language Rachel Giora, 2001-09-01 First published in 2001 Volume 16 Numbers 3 4 This special issue is an attempt to record the state of the art of psycholinguistics research into figurative language There are quite a number of models addressing distinct issues and aiming to solve different problems the mark of a maturing field Indeed not one theory is tailored to solve all the problems Rather each model while aiming at generality also recognizes its limitation Despite specializing in different topics most of the theories presented here have some things in common For one most of them dispense with the literal nonliteral divide proposing instead models that are capable of handling literal as well as figurative language Some models focus on the role primary meanings play in comprehension others shed light on context effects and some models seem to encompass both in terms of the accumulating effects of constraints whether linguistic or contextual Cognition and Figurative Language Richard P. Honeck, Robert R. Hoffman, 2018-10-31 Originally published in 1980 this is a book about the psychology of figurative language It is however eclectic and therefore should be of interest to professionals and students in education linguistics philosophy sociolinguistics and other concerned with meaning and cognition The editors felt there was a pressing need to bring together the growing empirical efforts of this topic In a sense recognition of the theoretical importance of figurative language symbolized the transition from the psycholinguistics of the 1960s to that of the late 1970s that is from a linguistic semantics to a more comprehensive psychological semantics with a healthy respect for context inference world knowledge and above all creative imagination The organization of the volume reflects the more basic general concerns with cognition from historical and philosophical background through problems of mental representation and semantic theory to developmental trends and to applications in problem solving Metonymy

and Language Charles Denroche, 2014-12-05 Metonymy and Language presents a new theory of language and communication in which the central focus is on the concept of metonymy the recognition of partial matches and overlaps Through the use of original data sets and rigorous primary research Denroche characterizes metonymy as key to understanding why language is so fit for purpose and how it achieves such great subtlety and flexibility This study develops the notion of metonymic competence and demonstrates that metonymic behavior is often pursued for its own sake in recreational activities such as quizzes puzzles and play and shows the possible impact of the application of metonymic processing theory to professional fields such as language teaching and translator training Furthermore it proposes a research approach with metonymy at its center metonymics which Denroche suggests could provide a powerful framework for addressing issues in numerous fields of practice in the arts and sciences German Soccer Passing Drills Peter Hyballa, Hans-Dieter te Poel, 2015-08-15 Train like the World Champions Over the past few years a new trend has become ever more prominent in the soccer world passing often fast and including all players in the game Combining this with their own personal style we have seen teams reach new heights of success from FC Barcelona to Bayern Munich and Borussia

Dortmund and most recently the German National Team at the 2014 World Cup in Brazil But what does it take to learn this art of passing What are the methodological and technical requirements for becoming the new Schweinsteiger Messi or Neuer In this book the only of its kind two German League certified coaches have created the ultimate guide to passing Using the Hyballa te Poel Passing Puzzle they present every type of pass there is in modern soccer with lots of drills for each type From the goalkeeper to the center forward everyone can learn passing with these exercises

L2 Figurative Language

Teaching Ioannis Galantomos,2021-09-17 During L2 vocabulary instruction figurative language frustrates even highly proficient users who find it difficult to cope with non literal expressions such as metaphors metonymies and idioms Given that figurative language is closely associated with enhanced L2 communicative competence this volume brings together theory and teaching applications shedding light on the comprehension and production of figurative language in a foreign language context

Common Ground in First Language and Intercultural Interaction Istvan Kecskes,2023-03-06 In recent years the traditional approach to common ground as a body of information shared between participants of a communicative process has been challenged Taking into account not only L1 but also intercultural interactions and attempting to bring together the traditional view with the egocentrism based view of cognitive psychologists it has been argued that construction of common ground is a dynamic emergent process It is the convergence of the mental representation of shared knowledge that we activate assumed mutual knowledge that we seek and rapport as well as knowledge that we co construct in the communicative process This dynamic understanding of common ground has been applied in many research projects addressing both L1 and intercultural interactions in recent years As a result several new elements aspects and interpretations of common ground have been identified Some researchers came to view common ground as one component in a complex contextual information structure Others analyzing intercultural interactions pointed out the dynamism of the interplay of core common ground and emergent common ground The book brings together researchers from different angles of pragmatics and communication to examine i what adjustments to the notion of common ground based on L1 communication should be made in the light of research in intercultural communication ii what the relationship is between context situation and common ground and iii how relevant knowledge and content get selected for inclusion into core and emergent common ground

Cognitive Linguistics M. Sandra Peña Cervel, Francisco J. Ruiz de Mendoza Ibáñez, 2008-08-22. The book testifies of the great tolerance of Cognitive Linguistics towards internal variety within itself and towards external interaction with major linguistic subdisciplines. Internally it opens up the broad variety of CL strands and the cognitive unity between convergent linguistic disciplines. Externally it provides a wide overview of the connections between cognition and social psychological, pragmatic and discourse oriented dimensions of language which will make this book attractive to scholars from different persuasions. The book is thus expected to raise productive debate inside and outside the CL community. Furthermore, the book examines interdisciplinary connections from the point of view of the internal dynamics of CL research itself. CL is rapidly developing into different compatible frameworks with extensions into levels of linguistics description like discourse, pragmatics and sociolinguistics among others that have only recently been taken into account in this orientation. The book covers two general topics: i) the relationship between the embodied nature of language, cultural models and social action; ii) the role of metaphor and metonymy in inferential activity and as generators of discourse ties. More specific topics are the nature and scope of constructional meaning, language variation and cultural models, discourse acts, the relationship between communication and cognition, the argumentative role of metaphor in discourse, the role of mental spaces in linguistic processing and the role of empirical work in CL research. These features endow the book with internal unity and consistency.
