Silent Running Bfi Film Classics:

Silent Running Mark Kermode, 2013 Description Movie Press Kits Silent Running Mark Kermode, 2019-07-25 A visually stunning and heartfelt riposte to the emotional sterility of Kubrick's 2001 A Space Odyssey Douglas Trumbull's eco-themed Silent Running 1972 became one of the defining science fiction films of the seventies Bruce Dern excels as lonely hero Freeman Lowell cast adrift in deep space with three robotic Drones who become his amazing companions on a journey beyond imagination Mark Kermode writing on his favourite science fiction film of all time traces Trumbull's sentimental masterpiece from its roots in the counter culture of the sixties to its enduring appeal as a cult classic in the 21st century Drawing on a new interview with Trumbull Kermode examines both the technical and thematic elements of this uniquely moving space adventure which continues to be mirrored and imitated by film makers today This special edition features original cover artwork by Olly Moss Film by Design Gary D. Rhodes, Robert Singer, 2024-09-16 Contributions by Vlad Dima Laura Hatry Alicia Kozma Lynette Kuliyeva Madhuja Mukherjee Frank Percaccio Gary D Rhodes Courtney Ruffner Grieneisen Marlisa Santos Michael L Shuman and Robert Singer Movie posters regardless of their country of origin have become indelibly linked with the films they represent often assuming a status as visual encapsulations of films within collective memory Long after their initial role in promotion is complete these posters endure as iconic images etched into film history and cultural consciousness One can hardly hear mention of Steven Spielberg's landmark production Jaws for example without immediately picturing the evocative poster art of Roger Kastel Film by Design The Art of the Movie Poster is a groundbreaking and comprehensive exploration of the international and Hollywood movie poster as a dynamic artistic and cultural formation Drawing inspiration from such prominent genres as horror science fiction and noir the twelve essays in this collection provide insightful analyses of the movie poster as a vital component of the cinematic landscape from the silent era to the contemporary period Crucially this anthology rejects the notion of movie posters as mere historical artifacts or advertising tools and instead examines them as integral parts of a broader aesthetic framework interwoven into their respective film narratives Each chapter whether focusing on controversies close ups or Cuba is accessible to scholars students and fans alike Through its intervention in film studies Film by Design reveals the movie poster to be an ever evolving medium firmly grounded in both theory and practice while serving as an essential and enduring element within the realm of film art Close Encounters of the Third Kind Dana Polan, 2024-10-03 Steven Spielberg's Close Encounters of the Third Kind 1977 is a film very much of its cinematic moment combining the gritty realism of entrapment in the everyday with furtive dreams of escape Dana Polan's compelling study of the film examines its significance to New Hollywood cinema and the science fiction genre He argues that Close Encounters is a film that is an allegory of the cinematic experience overall it both narrates a tale of visual seduction and plays it out viscerally for the spectator who shares the amazement of the protagonist Roy Neary as his mundane reality is transformed into something awe inspiring Providing an in depth look into the film's production history including all three different versions Polan situates Close Encounters within Spielberg's repertoire He argues that despite the film's popular success it is in fact a rejection of several entrenched American values including family home and marriage It offers through its visual fascination alternative understandings of masculinity and morality familial responsibility and what it means to follow the American Dream Inhabitable Infrastructures CJ Lim, 2017-05-25 Inhabitable Infrastructures Science fiction or urban future the follow up to Food City and Smartcities and Eco Warriors from one of the world's leading urban design and architectural thinkers explores the potential of climate change related multi use infrastructures that address the fundamental human requirements to protect to provide and to participate The stimulus for the infrastructures derives from postulated scenarios and processes gleaned from science fiction and futurology as well as the current body of scientific knowledge regarding changing environmental impacts on cities Science fiction is interdisciplinary by nature aggregates the past and present and evaluates both lay opinions and professional strategies in an attempt to develop foresight and to map possible futures The research culminates in the creation of innovative multi use infrastructures and integrated self sustaining support systems that meet the challenges posed through climate change and overpopulation and the reciprocal benefits of simultaneously addressing the threat and the shaping of cities J G Ballard has written that the psychological realm of science fiction is most valuable in its predictive function and in projecting emotions into the future The knowledge from the book is widely transferable constituting both solutions and speculative visions of future urban environments The book is indispensable reading for professionals and students in the fields of urban design architecture engineering and environmental socio politics BFI Film Classics Taylor Downing, 1992 No Marketing Blurb

Blade Runner Scott Bukatman, 2017-10-26 Ridley Scott's dystopian classic Blade Runner an adaptation of Philip K Dick's novel Do Androids Dream of Electric Sheep combines noir with science fiction to create a groundbreaking cyberpunk vision of urban life in the twenty first century With replicants on the run the rain drenched Los Angeles which Blade Runner imagines is a city of oppression and enclosure but a city in which transgression and disorder can always erupt Graced by stunning sets lighting effects costumes and photography Blade Runner succeeds brilliantly in depicting a world at once uncannily familiar and startlingly new In his innovative and nuanced reading Scott Bukatman details the making of Blade Runner and its steadily improving fortunes following its release in 1982 He situates the film in terms of debates about postmodernism which have informed much of the criticism devoted to it but argues that its tensions derive also from the quintessentially twentieth century modernist experience of the city as a space both imprisoning and liberating In his foreword to this special edition published to celebrate the 20th anniversary of the BFI Film Classics series Bukatman suggests that Blade Runner's visual complexity allows it to translate successfully to the world of high definition and on demand home cinema He looks back to the science fiction tradition of the early 1980s and on to the key changes in the final version of the film in 2007 which risk diminishing the sense of instability created in the original The Deer Hunter Brad Prager,2023-09-07 Michael Cimino's The Deer Hunter was met with both critical and commercial success upon its release in 1978. However, it was also highly controversial and came to be seen as a powerful statement on the human cost of America's longest war and as a colonialist glorification of anti-Asian violence. Brad Prager's study of the film considers its significance as a war movie and contextualizes its critical reception. Drawing on an archive of contemporaneous materials as well as an in-depth analysis of the film's lighting, mise en scène, multiple cameras, and shifting depths of field, Prager examines how the film simultaneously presents itself as a work of cinematic realism while problematically blurring the lines between fact and fiction. While Cimino felt he had no responsibility to historical truth, depicting a highly stylized version of his own fantasies about the Vietnam War, Prager argues that The Deer Hunter's formal elements were used to bolster his troubling depictions of war and race. Finally, comparing the film with later depictions of US-led intervention such as Albert and Allen Hughes's Dead Presidents (1995) and Spike Lee's Da 5 Bloods (2020), Prager illuminates The Deer Hunter's major presumptions, blind spots, and omissions while also presenting a case for its classic status.

Solaris Mark Bould,2017-10-07 Despite being one of Andrei Tarkovsky's most successful films, Solaris (1972) was the one he most disliked. This dismissal of his most generically marked film has often been accepted by those quick to embrace the image of Tarkovsky as a transcendent artist rising above the politics of the Soviet film industry and the trappings of genre to produce personal works of art. Going against such currents, Mark Bould instead treats Solaris as the product of a genre as well as the work of a skilled film maker. He teases out Tarkovsky's fascination with Stanislaw Lem, on whose novel the film was based, and also considers Steven Soderbergh's 2002 adaptation. Lively and revealing, Bould's examination situates Solaris within the Russian and global cultures of the fantastic to which Tarkovsky contributed three major science-fiction films. This special edition features original cover artwork by Matthew Shlian.

People on Sunday (Menschen am Sonntag) Jon Hughes,2025-03-27 Directed by Robert Siodmak and Edgar G. Ulmer and with a script by Billy Wilder, People on Sunday (Menschen am Sonntag, 1930) is now widely recognised as a landmark of Weimar cinema which influenced Italian Neorealism and the New Wave cinemas of the 1960s and set the template for indie filmmaking as we now know it. This is the first study in English of this multi-faceted film which not only launched the careers of renowned filmmakers but which continues to influence contemporary culture with references to it in popular television, Babylon Berlin, a playful remake, and a new score by experimental pop group M.M. Jon Hughes' study places the film in its historical context, Berlin in the Weimar Republic, and untangles the fascinating story of the making of People on Sunday, drawing on new archival research to challenge some of the misconceptions that surround it. Hughes provides fresh interpretations of the film's depiction of space and its play with contemporary gender and sexual politics and situates it within both Weimar cinema and the later output of the filmmakers.

Altman Archive at the University of Michigan Special Collections Wyatt explains how this broader reading of 3 Women uncovers a most valuable film text with particular interest to those interested in performance unique cinematic storytelling methods and an exacting social satire of American life in the late 1970s He situates the film within Altman's oeuvre arguing that it is one of the most significant films in the filmmaker's illustrious filmography
