

Patient SOAP Note Charting Procedures

S = Subjective

O = Objective

A = Assessment & Application

P = Plan

Subjective: Information the patient tells the treating team or patient advocate. Symptoms, not signs. These are typically not measurable, such as pain, nausea, and tingling, hence the term "subjective" as opposed to "objective". Normally, the practitioner is not aware of this information until the patient provides it. Update this information at the beginning of each treatment session noting any changes that have occurred since the last visit on each Daily SOAP note. Typically, the initial health history information, during the initial intake, should be gathered on the health history intake form, rather than the daily SOAP note which contains information gathered in subsequent visits.

Objective: Information gathered by the treating team or provider which is typically observable and measurable, hence "objective" as opposed to "subjective". Normally, the patient is not aware of this information until the practitioner elicits it. This might include, for example, ranges of motion, body temperature, blood pressure, the presence of a skin rash or wound, comments about the patient's posture or gait, and the results of examination procedures and testing.

Assessment: The diagnosis. This must be documented prior to the rendering or delivery of any treatment. For providers who are prohibited by law from rendering a diagnosis, an accurate assessment of the patient's condition, as a prelude to treatment, is sufficient.
