Disrupting Kinship Kimberly D. McKee,2019-03-02 Since the Korean War began Western families have adopted more than 200 000 Korean children Two thirds of these adoptees found homes in the United States The majority joined white families and in the process forged a new kind of transnational and transracial kinship Kimberly D McKee examines the growth of the neocolonial multi million dollar global industry that shaped these families a system she identifies as the transnational adoption industrial complex As she shows an alliance of the South Korean welfare state orphanages adoption agencies and American immigration laws powered transnational adoption between the two countries Adoption became a tool to supplement an inadequate social safety net for South Korea's unwed mothers and low income families At the same time it commodified children building a market that allowed Americans to create families at the expense of loving biological ties between Koreans McKee also looks at how Christian Americanism South Korean welfare policy and other facets of adoption interact with and disrupt American perceptions of nation citizenship belonging family and ethnic identity

In Salve of Marriage Mokes Gama, 2016-06-16 Within the past fifty years of social transformations the institution of marriage has witnessed a portentous shrinkage in size and importance The rates of divorce even as they seem to be leveling off today compared with few decades ago are still a source of much confusion Challenges in interpersonal relations between men and women with an aim of forming a family have become even more complicated rendering marriages extraneous For the young adults however the so called millennials who continue to be flustered by the welter of demographic changes and sociological experiences marked with a growing power of women in socioeconomic status and constantly in search of explanations a marriage as a rite of passage is still relevant But if we re to salvage the institution of marriage from extinction and that of family defined by father mother and children says Mokes Gama we must critically analyze our own attitudes on patriarchal feminism education and individualistic values that we embrace and adjust accordingly

Gibson,2022-07-15 Fashionable Masculinities explores the expression of masculinities through constructions of fashion identity style and appearance Essays include musical pop sensation Harry Styles rapper and producer Puff Daddy Sean Combs lumbersexuals spornosexuals sexy daddies and aging cool black daddies This book interrogates and challenges the meaning of masculinities and the ways that they are experienced and lived Renaissance Politics and Culture Jonathan Davies,John Monfasani,2021-08-16 Renaissance Politics and Culture collects ten essays by eminent scholars in Renaissance studies to celebrate the life and work of Robert Black who has made some of the most original and significant contributions to the history of the Renaissance Reflecting his interdisciplinary interests and approaches these essays analyze education humanism political thought printing and the visual arts during this key period in their development Contributors James R Banker J r mie Barthas Davide Baldi Bellini Jane Black Lorenz B ninger Jonathan Davies James Hankins John Monfasani John M Najemy and Brian Richardson Design and Agency John Potvin,Marie-Ève Marchand,2020-05-14 Design and Agency brings together leading international design scholars and practitioners to address the concept of agency in relation to objects organisations and people The authors set out to expand the scope of design history and practice avoiding the heroic narratives of a typical modernist approach They consider both how the agents of design construct and express their identities and subjectivities through practice while also investigating the distinctive contribution of design in the construction of individual identity and subjectivity Individual chapters explore notions of agency in a range of design disciplines and historical periods including the agency of women in effecting changes to the design of offices and working practices the role of Jeffrey Lindsay and Buckminster Fuller in developing the design of a geodesic dome Le Corbusier s Casa Curutchet a re consideration of the gendered historiography of the Jugendstil movement and Bruce Mau s design exhibitions Taken together the essays in Design and Agency provide a much needed response to the traditional texts which dominate design history With a broad chronological span from 1900 to the present and an equally broad understanding of the term design it expands how we view the discipline and shows how design itself can be an agent for social cultural and economic change Visualizing Film History Christian Gosvig Olesen,2025-01-07 Though many archival digital objects were not born digital film archives are now becoming important resources for digital scholarship as a consequence of digitization Moreover with advancements in digital research methods involving video annotation visual analysis and GIS affecting the way we look at archival films material stylistic histories and circulation new research practices are more important than ever Visualizing Film History is an accessible introduction to archive based digital scholarship in film and media studies and beyond With a combined focus on the history of film historiography archiving and recent digital scholarship covering a period from the first wave of film archiving in the early 1900s to recent data art this book proposes ways to work critically with digitized archives and research methods Christian Olesen encourages a shift towards new critical practices in the field with an in depth assessment of and critical approach to doing film historiography with the latest digital tools and digitized archives Olesen argues that if students scholars and archivists are to fully realize the potential of emerging digital tools and methodologies they must critically consider the roles that data analysis visualization interfaces and procedural human machinery interactions play in producing knowledge in current film historical research If we fail to do so we risk losing our ability to critically navigate and renew contemporary research practices and evaluate the results of digital scholarship

Constructing the Family Luke Taylor, 2022-11-01 In nineteenth century England legal conceptions of work and family changed in fundamental ways Notably significant legal moves came into play that changed the legal understanding of the family Constructing the Family examines the evolution of the legal discursive framework governing work and family relations Luke Taylor considers the intersecting intellectual and institutional forces that contributed to the dissolution of the household the establishment of separate spheres of work and family and the emergence of modern legal and social ideas concerning work and family He shows how specific legal institutional moves contributed to the creation of the family's categorical status in the social and legal order and a distinct and exceptional body of rules Family Law for its governance Shedding light on the historical processes that contributed to the emergence of English Family Law Constructing the Family shows how work and family became separate regulatory domains and in so doing reveals the contingent nature of the modern legal family
