paying attention to relationships between the local and global aspects of political voice equality and community Drawing on a range of international examples she explores the importance and possibilities of a form of education that instead of promoting divisive competition educates about citizenship in its various forms and encourages the sorts of open and radical thinking that can help young people cross ideological and physical borders and use their voice in line with their own and others real long term interests Successive chapters develop this argument by critically examining the key elements of citizenship discourses through the interrelated lenses of geopolitical change nationalism the competition fetish critical pedagogy multiculturalism protest politics feminism and ecology and highlighting ways in which the situationally diverse lived realities of citizenship have been mediated by different forms of education The book draws attention to how we think of education s place in a world of combined globalisation localism anti state revolt and xenophobia It will be of key interest to academics researchers and postgraduate students in the fields of education political science philosophy sociology social policy cultural studies and anthropology
