The seminal founders of philosophical thought: Plato, Augustine, Kant Karl Jaspers, 1966 The Foundations Karl Jaspers, Chinese and Buddhist Philosophy in Early Twentieth-Century German Thought Eric S. Nelson, 2017-08-24 Presenting a comprehensive portrayal of the reading of Chinese and Buddhist philosophy in early twentieth century German thought Chinese and Buddhist Philosophy in Early Twentieth Century German Thought examines the implications of these readings for contemporary issues in comparative and intercultural philosophy Through a series of case studies from the late 19th century and early 20th century Eric Nelson focuses on the reception and uses of Confucianism Daoism and Buddhism in German philosophy covering figures as diverse as Buber Heidegger and Misch He argues that the growing intertextuality between traditions cannot be appropriately interpreted through notions of exclusive identities closed horizons or unitary traditions Providing an account of the context motivations and hermeneutical strategies of early twentieth century European thinkers interpretation of Asian philosophy Nelson also throws new light on the question of the relation between Heidegger and Asian philosophy Reflecting the growing interest in the possibility of intercultural and global philosophy Chinese and Buddhist Philosophy in Early Twentieth Century German Thought opens up the possibility of a more inclusive intercultural conception of philosophy The Art of Spiritual Midwifery Stephen Faller, 2015-09-24 What comes after reflective listening What comes after the ministry of presence Spiritual midwifery is a powerful framework for offering pastoral care in today's fast paced environment Midwifery offers ways of thinking about those who are served the work itself and what it means to be a clinical caregiver within the tradition of the care of souls Spiritual midwifery has philosophical and spiritual roots that stem from the earliest seeds of Western thought even back to Jesus and Socrates Readers will find an inductive approach toward a conceptual model that offers insight for richer assessments and outcome oriented goals of care Part One sets out the metaphors of the midwife and the dialogue Part Two unpacks the methodology behind the mechanics Part Three looks at creative applications of midwifery and is followed by a Symposium patterned after Plato's own Symposium. A rigorous theory remains at the centre of the work but the tone is poetically balanced enough to invite the transformation of the spiritual caregiver. From the philosophy of Heraclitus to the theology of Kierkegaard and the spiritual direction of Guenther The Art of Spiritual Midwifery brings forth a comprehensive conception of pastoral care and its delivery

The Quest Lyman C.D. Kulathungam, 2012-04-25

The human spirit seems incapable of being stagnant ever pushing the boundaries of knowledge and experience. We try to understand life through questions regarding our own existence, the nature of the universe and the nature of God. The question of our collective heart is the external manifestation of an internal longing, a quest if you will. This thirst to understand reality can be seen in superstructures that are scientific, social, political and especially religious. When considering the doctrines, institutions and rituals of religions we observe certain core aspirations expressed by the people of these communities. These aspirations generate from an underlying quest which seeks a way out of our perceived predicament, a salvific quest. Regardless of whether we view ourselves as religious, pre-religious, post-religious or non-religious we find ourselves involved in such a quest; it seems to be an integral part of our human personhood. Using a unique framework of analysis, this book explores Christ's relevance to the quest expressed by the communities of eight major living religions, a relevance that neither degrades Christ nor demeans other saviors. Christ is not part of the human quest but is well equipped to satisfy that quest.

Crisis and Continuity Brenda Deen Schildgen, 1998-02-01

Here is a compact study of how Mark's Gospel meditates on time. It examines how the Gospel's contemporary setting in ordinary time defines its genre and how Mark uses the Hebrew scriptures to remember and recall past teachings, prophecies and histories. The suspended time narratives, Mark's intercalations, on the other hand, interrupt the narrative of the critical time, the present. Finally, by bringing the eternal horizon into the events of the present, Mark's mythic time reveals the crisis events as a momentary interruption of ordinary time. Similarly, during the ritual time the Gospel narrative breaks with its own historical setting in order to unravel the dead-endedness of the crisis story by symbolically taking it outside time.

The Idea of Wilderness Max Oelschlaeger, 1991-01-01 How has the concept of wild nature changed over the millennia And what have been the environmental consequences In this broad ranging book Max Oelschlaeger argues that the idea of wilderness has reflected the evolving character of human existence from Paleolithic times to the present day An intellectual history it draws together evidence from philosophy anthropology theology literature ecology cultural geography and archaeology to provide a new scientifically and philosophically informed understanding of humankind's relationship to nature Oelschlaeger begins by examining the culture of prehistoric hunter gatherers whose totems symbolized the idea of organic unity between humankind and wild nature and idea that the author believes is essential to any attempt to define human potential He next traces how the transformation of these hunter gatherers into farmers led to a new awareness of distinctions between humankind and nature and how Hellenism and Judeo Christianity later introduced the unprecedented concept that nature was valueless until humanized Oelschlaeger discusses the concept of wilderness in relation to the rise of classical science and modernism and shows that opposition to modernism arose almost immediately from scientific literary and philosophical communities He provides new and in some cases revisionist studies of the seminal American figures Thoreau Muir and Leopold and he gives fresh readings of America s two prodigious wilderness poets Robinson Jeffers and Gary Snyder He concludes with a searching look at the relationship of evolutionary thought to our postmodern effort to reconceptualize ourselves as civilized beings who remain in some ways natural animals

Dialogues Across Civilizations Roxann Prazniak, 2018-05-04 Dialogues Across Civilizations sets the histories of China and Europe alongside one another Each chapter stands as an essay that imaginatively places historical individuals and events in proximity to one another and explores a specific topic gender relations rural politics artistic renderings of nature to name a few through the stories of persons who reflected on similar questions but in different social and cultural settings Through this juxtaposition Chinese and European civilizations illuminate each other s achievements problems and limitations in a range of areas from urban history to religious faith Privileging neither Europe nor China this work offers an innovative move away from relativism and multiculturalism towards an analysis that focuses on relationships between social choices and consequences As a result both common and divergent perspectives on the human condition emerge for discussion Drawing upon a rich literature of cross societal studies Dialogues Across Civilizations generates reflection on themes central to the study of world history as well as European and Asian history
