Sol Plaatje Forms 2016:

Hospitalities Merle A. Williams, 2020-12-23 This collection of imaginative essays traces notions of hospitality across a sequence of theoretical permutations not only as an urgent challenge for our conflicted present but also as foundational for ethics and resonant within the play of language The plural form of the title highlights the inter implication of hospitality with its exclusive others holding suspicious rejection in tension with the receptiveness that transforms socio cultural relations Geographically the collection traverses the globe from Australia and Africa to Britain Europe and the United States weaving exchanges from south to north as well as south to south and thoughtfully remapping our world Temporally the chapters range from the primordial hospitality offered by the earth through the Middle Ages to contemporary detention centres and the crisis of homelessness Thematically hospitality embraces sites of dwelling and the land humans and animals in their complex embodiment spectres and the dead dolls and art objects This text openly welcomes the reader to participate in shaping fresh critical discourses of the hospitable whether in literary and linguistic studies art and architecture philosophy or politics

Sol Plaatje's Native Life in South Africa Janet Remmington, Brian Willan, Bhekizizwe Peterson, 2016-10-01 Sheds new light on Native Life appearing at a critical historical juncture and reflects on how to read it in South Africa's heightened challenges today First published in 1916 Sol Plaatje's Native Life in South Africa was written by one of the South Africa's most talented early twentieth century black leaders and journalists Plaatje's pioneering book arose out of an early African National Congress campaign to protest against the discriminatory 1913 Natives Land Act Native Life vividly narrates Plaatje's investigative journeying into South Africa's rural heartlands to report on the effects of the Act and his involvement in the deputation to the British imperial government At the same time it tells the bigger story of the assault on black rights and opportunities in the newly consolidated Union of South Africa and the resistance to it Originally published in war time London but about South Africa and its place in the world Native Life travelled far and wide being distributed in the United States under the auspices of prominent African American W E B Du Bois South African editions were to follow only in the late apartheid period and beyond The aim of this multi authored volume is to shed new light on how and why Native Life came into being at a critical historical juncture and to reflect on how it can be read in relation to South Africa's heightened challenges today Crucial areas that come under the spotlight in this collection include land race history mobility belonging war the press law literature language gender politics and the state

Sol Plaatje's Mhudi Sabata-mpho Mokae, Brian Willan, 2021 Sol Plaatje's Mhudi is the first full length novel in English to have been written by a black South African and is widely regarded as one of South Africa's most important literary works Set in the 1830s it tells the tale of Mhudi and Ra Thaga a romantic story set against a violent backdrop of war between Barolong and Matebele complicated by the intrusions of Boer trekkers with whom the Barolong form an alliance It is notable among other things for the way Plaatje uses the past to explore the roots of the oppression and injustice suffered by his people a century later when the book was written Page 4 of cover Legends Matthew Blackman, Nick Dall, 2023-09-29 We have a lot to be positive about in South Africa. With all our problems it's easy to feel bleak. But hold those thoughts because Legends might be just the tonic you need to drive off the gloom. This book tells the stories of a dozen remarkable people, some well known, others largely forgotten, who changed Mzansi for the better. Most South Africans are proud of Nelson Mandela and rightly so. His life was truly astounding, but he is by no means the only person who should inspire us. There's King Moshoeshoe, whose humanity and diplomatic strategies put him head and shoulders above his contemporaries, both European and African. And John Fairbairn, who brought non-racial democracy to the Cape in 1854. Olive Schreiner was a bestselling international author who fought racism, corruption, and chauvinism. And Gandhi spent twenty years here, inventing a system of protest that would bring an Empire to its knees. Legends also celebrates Eugène Marais's startling contributions to literature and natural history despite a lifelong morphine addiction. Sol Plaatje's wit, intelligence, and tenacity in the face of racial zealots. Cissie Gool's lifetime fighting for justice and exposing bigots. And Sailor Malan's battles against fascists in the skies of Europe and on the streets of South Africa. Legends also celebrates Eugène Marais's startling contributions to literature and natural history despite a lifelong morphine addiction. Sol Plaatje's wit, intelligence, and tenacity in the face of racial zealots. Cissie Gool's lifetime fighting for justice and exposing bigots. And Sailor Malan's battles against fascists in the skies of Europe and on the streets of South Africa. And then there's Miriam Makeba, who began her life in prison and ended it as an international singing sensation. Steve Biko, who shifted the minds of an entire generation. And Thuli Madonsela, the book's only living legend, who gracefully felled the most powerful man in the land. Engagingly written and meticulously researched, Legends reminds South Africans that we have a helluva lot to be proud of. Literature and the Work of Universality Alice Duhan, Stefan Helgesson, Christina Kullberg, Paul

Tenngart, 2024-07-22 In an age of accelerating ecological crises, global inequalities, and democratic fragility, it has become crucial to achieve renewed articulations of human commonality. With anchorage in critical theory as well as world literary studies, this volume approaches literature and modes of literary thinking as a key resource for such a task. Universality is understood here not as an established universalism but as a horizon towards which intellectual inquiry and literary practices orient themselves. In the field of world literature, there is by now a wide repertoire of epistemological resources through which claims to universality can be both questioned and reconfigured. If at one end of the spectrum world literature confronts us with the spectre of homogenisation and the commodification of difference under a regime of global capitalism, at another end renewed forms of philological, anthropological, and ecological attentiveness to the particulars of languages and texts within the crucible of connected histories allow for defamiliarising perspectives both on received historical narratives and aesthetic practices. Vernacularity emerges here as a central point of reference for constructing the universal from within the particular, the idiomatic, and the experiences of social subordination or complicity. The Rise of the African Novel Mukoma Wa Ngugi, 2018-03-27 Engaging questions of language, identity, and reception to restore South African and diaspora writing to the African literary tradition Space and planning in secondary cities Lochner Marais,Verna Nel,2019-09-01 Much of the urban research focuses on the large metropolitan areas in South Africa This book assesses spatial planning in the second tier cities of the country Secondary cities are vital as they perform essential regional and in some cases global economic roles and help to distribute the population of a country more evenly across its surface Apartheid planning left South African cities fragmented segregated and with low densities Post apartheid policies aim to reverse these realities by emphasising integration higher densities and upgrading Achieving these aims has been challenging and often the historical patterns continue The evidence shows that two opposing patterns prevail namely increased densities and continued urban sprawl This book presents ten case studies of spatial planning and spatial transformation in secondary cities of South Africa The book frames these case studies against complexity theory and suggests that the post apartheid response to apartheid planning represents a linear deviation from history The ten case studies then reveal how difficult it is for local decision makers to find appropriate responses and how current responses often result in contradictory results Often these cities are highly vulnerable and they find it difficult to plan in the context of uncertainty The book also highlights how these cities find it difficult to stand on their own against the influence of interest groups property developers mining companies traditional authorities other spheres of government The main reasons include weak municipal finance statements the dependence on national and provincial government for capital expenditure limited investment in infrastructure maintenance the lack of planning capacity the inability to implement plans and the unintended and sometimes contrary outcomes of post apartheid planning policies Anxious Joburg Nicky Falkof,Cobus van Staden,2020-10-01 An interdisciplinary account of the life of Johannesburg South Africa s global south city Anxious Joburg focuses on Johannesburg the largest and wealthiest city in South Africa as a case study for the contemporary global South city Global South cities are often characterised as sites of contradiction and difference that produce a range of feelings around anxiety This is often imagined in terms of the global North s anxieties about the South migration crime terrorism disease and environmental crisis Anxious Joburg invites readers to consider an intimate perspective of living inside such a city How does it feel to live in the metropolis of Johannesburg what are the conditions intersections affects and experiences that mark the contemporary urban Scholars visual artists and storytellers all look at unexamined aspects of Johannesburg life From peripheral settlements to the inner city to the affluent northern suburbs from precarious migrants and domestic workers to upwardly mobile young women and fearful elites Anxious Joburg presents an absorbing engagement with this frustrating dangerous seductive city It offers a rigorous critical approach to Johannesburg revealing the way in which anxiety is a vital structuring principle of contemporary life The approach is strongly interdisciplinary with contributions from media studies anthropology religious studies urban geography migration studies and psychology It will appeal to students and teachers as well as to academic researchers concerned with Johannesburg South Africa cities and the global South The mix of approaches will also draw a non academic audience

Colonial Literature and the Native Author Jane Stafford, 2016-12-20 This book is the first study of writers who are both Victorian and indigenous who have been educated in and write in terms of Victorian literary conventions but whose indigenous affiliation is part of their literary personae and subject matter What happens when the colonised indigenous or native subject learns to write in the literary language of empire If the romanticised subject of colonial literature becomes the author is a new kind of writing produced or does the native author conform to the models of the coloniser By investigating the ways that nineteenth century concerns are adopted accommodated rewritten challenged re inscribed confronted or assimilated in the work of these authors this study presents a novel examination of the nature of colonial literary production and indigenous authorship as well as suggesting to the discipline of colonial and postcolonial studies a perhaps unsettling perspective with which to look at the larger patterns of Victorian cultural and literary formation Contemporary Military Geosciences in South Africa Hennie Smit, 2019-03-31 Contemporary Military Geosciences in South Africa presents the reader with chapters celebrating the scope reach and impact of themes researched by military geoscientists The first topics under investigation ranges from battlefield archaeology and battlefield tourism to military environmental management and the development of a unique South African spatial decision support system for military integrated environmental management This is followed by an in depth look at contemporary maritime factors at play in South Africa The book is concluded by an analysis of the issues surrounding military mobility software and terrain negotiability as well as a comprehensive examination of how geographic factors influence the distribution of natural radionuclides in a military area Contemporary Military Geosciences in South Africa Jacques Bezuidenhout, Hennie Smit, 2019-03-20 Contemporary Military Geosciences in South Africa presents the reader with chapters celebrating the scope reach and impact of themes researched by military geoscientists The first topics under investigation ranges from battlefield archaeology and battlefield tourism to military environmental management and the development of a unique South African spatial decision support system for military integrated environmental management This is followed by an in depth look at contemporary maritime factors at play in South Africa The book is concluded by an analysis of the issues surrounding military mobility software and terrain negotiability as well as a comprehensive examination of how geographic factors influence the distribution of natural radionuclides in a military area Identities and Education Stephen Carney, Eleftherios Klerides, 2021-01-28 Education is central to the project of individual and collective identity formation national development and international relations and is crucial in moments of crisis What should be the agenda of study and action for education in such times Identities and Education engages with this crucial question seeking to examine and problematise our contemporary moment Through the heuristic of the concept of identity it specifically aims at creating a space for understanding our current challenges and considering the potential of education to address them Contributors in this volume explore identity crisis and education not only in interdisciplinary inter sectional relational and eclectic ways but also through comparative lens The book includes
