Solutions to Inflation David C. Colander, 1979 The New Solution to the Problem of Inflation Nguyen Cao Dung, 2017-04-13 SUMMARY Address the problem of inflation by putting money into circulation directly through commercial enterprises in order to always respect the principle of Money is only put into circulation when the society has acquired materials and goods as control objects to ensure value for money And when such materials and goods are no longer available they are sold for consumption the money from the circulation must be recovered So we will always have a balance in value between Goods and Money in a dynamically growing economy and inflation will be automatically suppressed We will get out of the spiral cycle money supply inflation recession The value of the national currency will always be solid and stable This solution will help countries suffering from high inflation such as Venezuela Zimbabwe control the balance of value of goods and money in the market economy of their country from which will control and gradually will eliminate inflation This solution can also help countries want to convert the economy from a centrally planned economy such as Cuba North Korea to a market economy safely effectively and avoid causing major shocks due to rising prices in the economy because of the control the balance of value of goods and money in the economy of their country This solution will help countries in the world to perfect the market economy helping countries get rid of the spiral cycle money supply inflation degradation The market economy of the countries will grow as fast as it can without suffering inflation or deflation dragging it back anymore I would like to introduce the book THE NEW SOLUTION TO THE PROBLEM OF INFLATION to you Nguyen Cao Dung Copyright reserved Please quote the source and author s name
