On a Global Mission: The Automobiles of General Motors International Volume 3 Louis F. Fourie, 2016-12-29 Volume One traces the history of Opel and Vauxhall separately from inception through to the 1970s and thereafter collectively to 2015 Special attention is devoted to examining innovative engineering features and the role Opel has taken of providing global platforms for GM Each model is examined individually and supplemented by exhaustive supporting specification tables The fascinating history of Saab and Lotus begins with their humble beginnings and examines each model in detail and looks at why these unusual marques came under the GM Banner Included is a penetrating review of Saab through to its unfortunate demise Volume Two examines unique models and variations of Chevrolet and Buick manufactured in the Southern Hemisphere and Asia but never offered in North America Daewoo Wuling and Baojun are other Asian brands covered in detail This volume concludes with recording the remarkable early success of Holden and its continued independence through to today Volume Three covers the smaller assembly operations around the world and the evolution of GM's export operations A brief history of Isuzu Subaru and Suzuki looks at the three minority interests GM held in Asia The GM North American model specifications are the most comprehensive to be found in a single book Global and regional sales statistics are included GM executives and management from around the globe are listed with the roles they held An index ensures that these volumes serve as the ideal reference source on GM

Joint FAO-IOC-IAEA technical guidance for the implementation of early warning systems for harmful algal blooms Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization-IOC, International Atomic Energy Agency, 2023-03-16 Globally there are 3 400 to 4 000 described species of marine microalgae but only 1 to 2 percent are considered to be harmful Harmful algal blooms HABs have significant impacts on food safety and security through contamination or mass mortalities of aquatic organisms The impacts and mass mortalities of marine species caused by harmful algae are not new and have been recorded for decades However there is growing concern that these events will increase due to accelerating global warming climate change and anthropogenic activities Indeed if not properly controlled aquatic products contaminated with HAB biotoxins are responsible for potentially deadly foodborne diseases and when rapidly growing HAB consequences include reduced dissolved oxygen in the ocean dead zones and mass mortalities of aquatic organisms Improving HAB forecasting is an opportunity to develop early warning systems for HAB events such as food contamination mass mortalities or foodborne diseases Surveillance systems have been developed to monitor HABs in many countries however the lead time or the type of data i.e identification at the species level determination of toxicity may not be sufficient to take effective action for food safety management measures or other reasons such as transfer of aquaculture products to other areas Having early warning systems could help mitigate the impact of HABs and reduce the occurrence of HAB events The Joint FAO IOC IAEA technical guidance for the implementation of early warning systems EWS for HABs will guide competent authorities and relevant institutions involved in consumer protection or environmental monitoring to implement early warning systems for HABs present in their areas marine and brackish waters specifically those affecting food safety or food security benthic HABs fish killing HABs pelagic toxic HABs and cyanobacteria HABs The guidance provides a roadmap for stakeholders on how to improve or implement an EWS for HABs and biotoxins where appropriate It is important to note that not all countries and institutions can implement the same level of EWS for HABs and this guidance is intended mainly for those who seek to broaden existing early warning systems or who are just beginning to consider putting a system in place
