Zimring,2017-03-15 Tracing the benefits and limitations of repurposing aluminum Besides being the right thing to do for Mother Earth recycling can also make money particularly when it comes to upcycling a zero waste practice where discarded materials are fashioned into goods of greater economic or cultural value In Upcycling Aluminum Carl A Zimring explores how the metal s abundance after World War II coupled with the significant economic and environmental costs of smelting it from bauxite ore led to the industrial production of valuable durable goods from salvaged aluminum Beginning in 1886 with the discovery of how to mass produce aluminum the book examines the essential part the metal played in early aviation and the world wars as well as the troubling expansion of aluminum as a material of mass disposal Recognizing that scrap aluminum was as good as virgin material and much more affordable than newly engineered metal designers in the postwar era used aluminum to manufacture highly prized artifacts Zimring takes us on a tour of post 1940s design examining the use of aluminum in cars trucks airplanes furniture and musical instruments from 1945 to 2015 By viewing upcycling through the lens of one material Zimring deepens our understanding of the history of recycling in industrial society He also provides a historical perspective on contemporary sustainable design practices Along the way he challenges common assumptions about upcycling s merits and adds a new dimension to recycling as a form of environmental absolution for the waste related sins of the modern world Raising fascinating questions of consumption environment and desire Upcycling Aluminum is for anyone interested in industrial and environmental history discard studies engineering product design music history or antiques The World in 2050 Laurence C. Smith,2010-09-23

A vivid forecast of our planet in the year 2050 by a rising star in geoscience distilling cutting edge research into four global forces demographic trends natural resource demand climate change and globalization The world s population is exploding wild species are vanishing our environment is degrading and the costs of resources from oil to water are going nowhere but up So what kind of world are we leaving for our children and grandchildren Geoscientist and Guggenheim fellow Laurence Smith draws on the latest global modeling research to construct a sweeping thought experiment on what our world will be like in 2050 The result is both good news and bad Eight nations of the Arctic Rim including the United States will become increasingly prosperous powerful and politically stable while those closer to the equator will face water shortages aging populations and crowded megacities sapped by the rising costs of energy and coastal flooding The World in 2050 combines the lessons of geography and history with state of the art model projections and analytical data everything from climate dynamics and resource stocks to age distributions and economic growth projections But Smith offers more than a compendium of statistics and studies he spent fifteen months traveling the Arctic Rim collecting stories and insights that resonate throughout the book It is an approach much like Jared Diamond took in Guns Germs and Steel and Collapse a work of geoscientific investigation rich in the appreciation of human diversity Packed with stunning photographs original maps and informative tables this is the most authoritative balanced and compelling account available of the world of challenges and opportunities that we will leave for our children Business Transformation Strategies Oswald A J Mascarenhas,2011-02-14

A resource for industry professionals and consultants this book on corporate strategy lays down the theories and models for revitalizing companies in the face of global recession It discusses cutting edge concepts constructs paradigms theories models and cases of corporate strategic leadership for bringing about transformation and innovation in companies Each chapter in the book is appended with transformation exercises that further explicate the concepts Innovation and Entrepreneurship John R. Bessant,Joe Tidd,1991-01-08 Innovation and Entrepreneurship 3rd Edition is an accessible text on innovation and entrepreneurship aimed specifically at undergraduate students studying business and management studies but also those on engineering and science degrees with management courses The text applies key theories and research on innovation and entrepreneurship and then reviews and synthesises those theories and research to apply them in a much broader and contemporary context including the corporate and public services emerging technologies and economies and sustainability and development and creating and capturing value from innovation and entrepreneurship In this third edition the authors continue to adopt an explicit process model to help organise the material with clear links between innovation and entrepreneurship This text has been designed to be fully integrated with the Innovation Portal at www.innovationportal.info which contains an extensive collection of additional resources for both lecturers and students including teaching resources case studies media clips innovation tools seminar and assessment activities and test questions
