(Not) In the Game Regina Seiwald,Edwin Vollans,2023-08-21 How do games represent history and how do we make sense of the history of games The industry regularly uses history to sell products while processes of creation and of promotion leave behind markers of a game s history The access to this history is often granted by so called paratexts which are accompanying elements orbiting texts Exploring this fully case studies in this work move the focus of debate from the games themselves to wider ancillary materials and ask how history is used in and how we can use history to study games Reconciling with the Past Annika Frieberg,C.K. Martin Chung,2017-02-17 Are countries truly reconciled after successful conflict resolution Are only resource rich regions capable of reconciliation while supposedly resource poor ones are condemned to recurring conflicts This book examines the availability of various resources for political reconciliation and explores how they are utilized in overcoming particular obstacles during the process While the existing literature focus on themes such as justice apology and resentment the analysis here is centered on intellectual resources in terms of ideas memory cultures master narratives economic incentives civil society initiatives and object lessons The research and comparative research in this volume are conducted by renowned regional experts from South Africa to the Asia Pacific thus providing multidisciplinary perspectives and new insight on the subject The Cortex and the Critical Point John M. Beggs,2022-08-30 How the cerebral cortex operates near a critical phase transition point for optimum performance Individual neurons have limited computational powers but when they work together it is almost like magic Firing synchronously and then breaking off to improvise by themselves they can be paradoxically both independent and interdependent This happens near the critical point when neurons are poised between a phase where activity is damped and a phase where it is amplified where information processing is optimized and complex emergent activity patterns arise The claim that neurons in the cortex work best when they operate near the critical point is known as the criticality hypothesis In this book John Beggs one of the pioneers of this hypothesis offers an introduction to the critical point and its relevance to the brain Drawing on recent experimental evidence Beggs first explains the main ideas underlying the criticality hypotheses and emergent phenomena He then discusses the critical point and its two main consequences first scale free properties that confer optimum information processing and second universality or the idea that complex emergent phenomena like that seen near the critical point can be explained by relatively simple models that are applicable across species and scale Finally Beggs considers future directions for the field including research on homeostatic regulation quasicriticality and the expansion of the cortex and intelligence An appendix provides technical material many chapters include exercises that use freely available code and data sets The Anti-Social Contract Lars Højer, 2019-07-16 Set in a remote district of villagers and nomadic pastoralists in the northernmost part of Mongolia this book introduces a local world where social relationships are cast in witchcraft like idioms of mistrust and suspicion While the apparent social breakdown that followed the collapse of state socialism in Mongolia often implied a chaotic lack of social cohesion this ethnography reveals an everyday universe where uncertain relations are as much internally cultivated in indigenous Mongolian perceptions of social relatedness as they are externally confronted in postsocialist surroundings of unemployment and diminished social security Art Index Alice Maria Dougan, Margaret Furlong, 1999 Leaving on Top David Heenan, 2012-11-15 Leaving on Top Graceful Exits for Leaders explores what it means to move on from a career with a class and a view for what's next While most graceful exiters pursue a variety of interests throughout their professional lifetime others are content to reach the top and then cling to it Through this research David Heenan has found that most leaders can be categorized into four exiting types Timeless wonders With their skills very much intact these white haired prodigies have no need to call it quits Aging Despots Reluctant to leave the spotlight they are past their prime and should turn the reigns over to a new generation Comeback Kids Whether to return their enterprises to their former glory or simply save themselves from boredom these once departed leaders have returned with a vengeance Graceful Exiters Quitting while ahead they leave a sterling reputation as they move on Heenan understands how to exit gracefully from his profession he's done it several times In Leaving On Top he pairs wisdom derived from his experience with dozens of high profile exits both graceful and untimely Heenan's examination includes ten exiting lessons from leaders of industry such as Know Thy Situation Situations change and the intuitive know when a great career has fizzled Take Risks Accept change as a natural part of your transition push your comfort zone to confront new challenges Keep Good Company Build alliances to help plan your exit strategy then stay connected Keep Learning Graceful exiters remain curious They are intellectually interested alert and adaptable Know When to Walk Away Blind determination often backfires Don't let professional success cloud your personal life Rethinking Peacebuilding Karin Aggestam, Annika Björkdahl, 2013 This book presents new theoretical and conceptual perspectives on the problematique of building just and durable peace Linking peace and justice has sparked lively debates about the dilemmas and trade offs in several contemporary peace processes Despite the fact that justice and peace are commonly referred to there is surprisingly little research and few conceptualizations of the interplay between the two This edited volume is the result of three years of collaborative research and draws upon insights from such disciplines as peace and conflict international law political science and international relations It contains policy relevant knowledge about effective peacebuilding strategies as well as an in depth analysis of the contemporary peace processes in the Middle East and the Western Balkans Using a variety of theoretical perspectives and empirical approaches the work makes an original contribution to the growing literature on peacebuilding This book will be of much interest to students of peacebuilding peace and conflict studies Middle Eastern Politics European Politics and IR Security Studies

Music-Making in U.S. Prisons Mary L. Cohen, Stuart P. Duncan, 2022-11-08 The U S incarceration machine imprisons more people than in any other country Music Making in U S Prisons looks at the role music making can play in achieving goals of accountability and healing that challenge the widespread assumption that prisons and punishment keep societies safe The book s synthesis of historical research contemporary practices and pedagogies of music making inside prisons reveals that prior to the 1970s tough on crime era choirs instrumental ensembles and radio shows bridged lives inside and outside prisons Mass incarceration had a significant negative impact on music programs Despite this setback current programs testify to the potency of music education to support personal and social growth for people experiencing incarceration and deepen social awareness of the humanity found behind prison walls Cohen and Duncan argue that music making creates opportunities to humanize the complexity of crime sustain meaningful relationships between incarcerated individuals and their families and build social awareness of the prison industrial complex The authors combine scholarship and personal experience to guide music educators music aficionados and social activists to create restorative social practices through music making

The Making of Art Martina Weinhart, Max Hollein, Buchhandlung Walther König, 2009 These days people love art ndash especially contemporary art which has become a constantly growing cultural factor Fascinated by the artists creative milieu the public strives to share in its atmosphere of being something special In a time of upheaval this publication offers a look behind the scenes of the contemporary art world in which the triangle of artist artwork and viewer has long since been expanded many times over The relationships between artist collector gallerist curator and critic frequently inform the works very contents and these aspects are increasingly represented in the works themselves Many artists keep an eye on what happens in the art world and reflect the more and more lavish trade from the creative process and the mounting of an exhibition to the rituals of the scene English and German text
