The Colors Of Oppression

Anna Stubblefield

The Colors Of Oppression:

Ethics along the Color Line Anna Stubblefield, 2018-05-31 What is race What role if any should race play in our moral obligations to others and to ourselves Ethics along the Color Line addresses the question of whether black Americans should think of each other as members of an extended racial family and base their treatment of each other on this consideration or eschew racial identity and envision the day when people do not think in terms of race Anna Stubblefield suggests furthermore that white Americans should consider the same issues She argues finally that for both black and white Americans thinking of races as families is crucial in helping to combat anti black oppression Stubblefield is concerned that the philosophical debate argued notably between Kwame Anthony Appiah and Lucius Outlaw over whether or not we should strongly identify in terms of race and whether or not we should take race into account when we decide how to treat each other has stalled Drawing on black feminist scholarship about the moral importance of thinking and acting in terms of community and extended family the author finds that strong racial identification if based on appropriate ideals is morally sound and even necessary to end white supremacy

The Colors of Jews Melanie Kaye/Kantrowitz, 2007-06-14 Exposes and challenges the common assumptions about whom and what Jews are by presenting in their own voices Jews of color from the Iberian Peninsula Asia Africa and India Kaye Kantrowitz delves into the largely uncharted territory of Jews of color and argues that Jews are an increasingly multiracial people From publisher description

The Color of Life Cara Meredith, 2019-02-05 In this spiritual memoir a white woman in an interracial marriage and mixed race family paints a beautiful path from white privilege toward racial healing from ignorance toward seeing the image of God in everyone she meets Author and speaker Cara Meredith grew up in a colorless world From childhood she didn't think issues of race had anything to do with her and she was ignorant of many of the racial realities including individual and systemic racism in America today A colorblind rhetoric had been stamped across her education world view and Christian theology Then as an adult Cara's life took on new colorful hues She realized that white people in her generation seeking to move beyond ancestral racism had swung so far in believing a colorblind rhetoric that they tried to act as if they didn't see race at all When Cara met and fell in love with the son of black icon James Meredith the power of love helped her see color She began to notice the shades of life already present in the world around her while also learning to listen in new ways to black voices of the past After she married and their little family grew to include two mixed race sons Cara knew she would never see the world through a colorless lens again Cara Meredith's journey will serve as an invitation into conversations of justice race and privilege asking key questions such as What does it mean to navigate ongoing and desperately needed conversations of race and justice What does it mean for white people to listen and learn

Gist, Travis J. Bristol, 2022-10-15 Teachers of Color and Indigenous Teachers are underrepresented in public schools across the United States of America with Black Indigenous and People of Color making up roughly 37% of the adult population and 50% of children but just 19% of the teaching force Yet research over decades has indicated their positive impact on student learning and social and emotional development particularly for Students of Color and Indigenous Students A first of its kind the Handbook of Research on Teachers of Color and Indigenous Teachers addresses key issues and obstacles to ethnoracial diversity across the life course of teachers careers such as recruitment and retention professional development and the role of minority serving institutions Including chapters from leading researchers and policy makers the Handbook is designed to be an important resource to help bridge the gap between scholars practitioners and policy makers In doing so this research will serve as a launching pad for discussion and change at this critical moment in our country s history The volume s goal is to drive conversations around the issue of ethnoracial teacher diversity and to provide concrete practices for policy makers and practitioners to enable them to make evidence based decisions for supporting an ethnoracially diverse educator workforce now and in the future Social Justice, Multicultural Counseling, and Practice Heesoon Jun, 2018-03-10 This second edition book provides an update to multicultural psychology and counseling research findings and the DSM 5 in sociopolitical and cultural contexts It links social psychology with current cognitive science research on implicit learning ethnocentrism attribution error in group favoritism and asymmetric perception automatic information processing and inappropriate generalization Chapters discuss the interwoven characteristics of multiple identities of individuals such as race gender class disability age religion region and sexual orientation In addition the book offers concrete strategies to facilitate inner dialogue and discussion of self perception and interpersonal relationships Featured topics in this book include Intrapersonal communication and the biases that can be involved The impact of a provider s personal values and beliefs on assessing and treating clients The Social Categorization Theory of Race The Social Categorization Theory of Gender The Social Dominance Theory of Class Identity Construction Multiple Identities and their intersectionality Social Justice Multicultural Counseling and Practice Second Edition will be of interest to researchers and professors in clinical psychology counseling psychology multicultural psychology social psychology cognitive neuroscience social work social justice equity and inclusion work as well as health care providers The Making of a Racist State Bernard Magubane, 1996 How did the Union of South Africa come to be dominated by a white minority That is the obvious but haunting question addressed in this remarkable historical survey which documents and analyses the chain of events that led up to the passing in 1909 of the South African Act by the British Parliament The Color of Civics Matthew D. Nelsen, 2023 Generations of Americans dating back to the nation s founding have regarded schools as essential for developing the knowledge and civic values necessary for sustaining democracy Yet as Matthew D Nelsen argues in The Color of Civics traditional approaches to civic education are not living up to their promise for many students particularly students of color from disadvantaged communities How do we prepare an increasingly diverse generation of Americans for full participation in public life Drawing on lessons from students and teachers in Chicago The Color of Civics reimagines the democratic purpose of civic education Nelsen's findings challenge some of the most widely cited civic education research arguing that the content of traditional civic education courses privileges the political experiences of white political actors and in turn contributes to divergent political behaviors and participatory outcomes across racial and ethnic groups He presents a new approach to civic education that aims to foster political empowerment by centering historically grounded conversations about current events as well as critical categories of knowledge those that highlight the agency and grassroots political action of marginalized groups This approach increases rates of intended political participation among young people of color and heightens political empathy among white youth Nelsen also highlights the agency of teachers in processes of socialization exploring how their attitudes and lived experiences drive the implementation of more empowering civic learning environments By taking the histories and lived experiences of marginalized communities seriously The Color of Civics asserts that civics courses can become spaces where young people begin to recognize their own agency develop empathy and define the terms of their own political participation Including novel empirical research and an evidence based analysis Nelsen provides practical and useful advice for policymakers that cuts through the noise to focus on what works Coping in Politics with Indeterminate Norms

Benjamin Gregg, 2012-02-01 Are social equity political fairness and legal justice possible within a liberal political order even if norms are indeterminate The modern world is distinguished by both its complexity and the absence of a single theory principle or tradition with the authority to constrain us Coping in Politics with Indeterminate Norms demonstrates that while moral validity is relative rather than absolute and cultural meanings local rather than universal social integration and democratic politics are still attainable goals Benjamin Gregg fashions a theory that combines proceduralism with pragmatism an enlightened localism that adjudicates among competing normative commitments and interpretations using local criteria in the absence of universal standards The theory is applied to three empirical domains social criticism public policy and law and morality

Africa and the African Diaspora E. Kofi Agorsah and G. Tucker Childs, 2005-12-29 Africa and the African Diaspora is the outcome of a symposium held at Portland State University in Portland Oregon February 2002 entitled Symposium on Freedom in Black History designed to celebrate Black History Month The major themes of the conference were how Africans both at home on the continent and dispersed abroad often by forces beyond their control reacted to oppression and subjugation in seeking freedom from slavery colonialism and discrimination The volume documents the many forms that oppression has taken the many forms that resistance has taken and the cultural developments that have allowed Africans to adapt to the new and changing economic social and environmental conditions to win back their freedom

Oppressive strategies as divide and rule could be based on any one of a number of features such as skin color place of origin culture or social or economic status People drawn into the vortex of the Atlantic trade and funneled into the sugar fields the swampy rice lands or the cotton coffee or tobacco plantations of the new world and elsewhere had no alternative but to risk their lives for freedom The plantation provided the context for the dehumanization of disadvantaged groups subjected to exhausting work frequent punishment and personal injustice of every kind This book demonstrates that the history and interpretation of these struggles of the oppressed peoples to free themselves have not received proportionate attention and analysis as have other aspects of that history

Absorption Narratives Stephanie M. Pridgeon, 2024-12-16 In Absorption Narratives Stephanie M Pridgeon explores cultural depictions of Jewishness Blackness and Indigeneity within a comparative inter American framework The dynamics of Jewishness interacting with other racial categories differ significantly in Latin America and the Caribbean compared with those in the United States and Canada largely due to long standing and often disputed concepts of mestizaje broadly defined as racial mixture As a result a comprehensive understanding of Jewishness and the construction of racial identities requires an exploration of how Jewishness intersects with both Blackness and Indigeneity in the Americas Absorption Narratives charts the ways in which literary works capture differences and similarities among Black Jewish and Indigenous experiences Through an extensive and diverse examination of fiction Pridgeon navigates the complex connections of these identity categories offering a comparative perspective on race and ethnicity across the Americas that destabilizes US centric critical practices Revealing the limitations of US focused models in understanding racial alterity in relation to Jewishness Absorption Narratives emphasizes the importance of viewing the narrative of race relations in the Americas from a hemispheric standpoint
