Department of New York University who in 1846 had accused the newly formed American Medical Association of playing aristocratic politics behind a masquerade of curriculum reform Eventually though they grudgingly followed the lead of the Regulars by changing their curriculum and tightening admission standards By the late nineteenth century the Eclectics found themselves in the backwaters of modern medicine Unable to break away from their botanic bias and ill equipped to support the implications of germ theory the financial costs of salaried faculty and staff and the research implications of laboratory science the Eclectics were pushed aside by the rush of modern academic medicine Academy, with which are
