Gothic writing 1750-1820 Robert Miles, 2017-06-01 Now available again in paperback this provocative study by Robert Miles uses the tools of modern literary theory and criticism to analyse this very distinctive body of texts Miles introduces the reader to contexts of Gothic in the eighteenth century including its historical development and its placement within the period s concerns with discourse and gender By using texts ranging from sensational novels such as The Monk and The Mysteries of Udolpho poetic variations on Gothic by Coleridge Shelley and Keats to satirical works on the theme by Jane Austen Miles presents an intriguing overview of Gothic literature By drawing extensively on the ideas of Michel Foucault to establish a genealogy he brings Gothic writing in from the margins of popular fiction resituating it at the centre of debate about Romanticism

Celluloid Comrades Song Hwee Lim, 2006-08-31 Without question Song Hwee Lim has presented us with an exemplar of quality scholarship in the study of contemporary Chinese cinemas By combining an impressive command of Chinese and Western literary as well as film source materials with a sophisticated mode of analysis and an unassuming argumentative style he has authored an exhilarating book one that not only treats cinematic representations of male homosexuality with great sensitivity but also demonstrates what it means to read with critical intelligence and vision Rey Chow Andrew W Mellon Professor of the Humanities Brown University Celluloid Comrades is a timely demonstration of the importance of queer studies in the field of transnational Chinese cinemas Lim dissects gay sexuality in selective Chinese language films and vigorously contests commonly accepted critical paradigms and theoretical models Readers will find a provocative powerful voice in this new book Sheldon H Lu Professor of Comparative Literature University of California at Davis Celluloid Comrades offers a cogent analytical introduction to the representation of male homosexuality in Chinese cinemas within the last decade It posits that representations of male homosexuality in Chinese film have been polyphonic and multifarious posing a challenge to monolithic and essentialized constructions of both Chineseness and homosexuality Given the artistic achievement and popularity of the films discussed here the position of celluloid comrades can no longer be ignored within both transnational Chinese and global queer cinemas The book also challenges readers to reconceptualize these works in relation to global issues such as homosexuality and gay and lesbian politics and their interaction with local conditions agents and audiences Tracing the engendering conditions within the film industries of China Taiwan and Hong Kong Song Hwee Lim argues that the emergence of Chinese cinemas in the international scene since the 1980s created a public sphere in which representations of marginal sexualities could flourish in its interstices Examining the politics of representation in the age of multiculturalism through debates about the films Lim calls for a rethinking of the limits and hegemony of gay liberationist discourse prevalent in current scholarship and film criticism He provides in depth analyses of key films and auteurs reading them within contexts as varied as premodern transgender practice in Chinese theater to postmodern diasporic forms of sexualities Informed by cultural and postcolonial studies and critical theory this acutely observed and theoretically sophisticated work will be of interest to a wide range of scholars and students as well as general readers looking for a deeper understanding of contemporary Chinese cultural politics cinematic representations and queer culture

Projective Identification Elizabeth Spillius, Edna O'Shaughnessy, 2013-06-17 In this book Elizabeth Spillius and Edna O'Shaughnessy explore the development of the concept of projective identification which had important antecedents in the work of Freud and others but was given a specific name and definition by Melanie Klein They describe Klein's published and unpublished views on the topic and then consider the way the concept has been variously described evolved accepted rejected and modified by analysts of different schools of thought and in various locations Britain Western Europe North America and Latin America The authors believe that this unusually widespread interest in a particular concept and its varied fate has occurred not only because of beliefs about its clinical usefulness in the psychoanalytic setting but also because projective identification is a universal aspect of human interaction and communication Projective Identification The Fate of a Concept will appeal to any psychoanalyst or psychotherapist who uses the ideas of transference and counter transference as well as to academics wanting further insight into the evolution of this concept as it moves between different cultures and countries

Pasolini, Chaucer and Boccaccio Agnès Blandeau, 2014-12-09 Pier Pasolini's trilogy of life is a series of film adaptations of major texts of the past The Decameron The Canterbury Tales and One Thousand and One Nights The movies demonstrate a film author's acute aesthetic sensibility through a highly original cinematic rendering of the sources The first two films closely examined in this book offer a personal purposefully stylized vision of the Middle Ages as though Pasolini were dreaming Boccaccio's and Chaucer's texts through the filter of his heretic consciousness The unusual poetic visualization of the source works which could be described as irreverent cinematic homage has the potential to renew the traditional reading of such literature This book shows how cinema becomes an alternative form of storytelling It first studies the two films in detail putting them in perspective within the trilogy Next it interprets them recounting misinterpretations and expounding upon Pasolini's ideological perception and defends the oft criticized adaptations Finally it discusses how the films represent innovation over strict adaptation Appendices offer charts with information on the narrative structures of the films and the correspondences between them

The New Biographical Dictionary of Film David Thomson, 2010 Thomson independent scholar writing of The Biographical Dictionary of Film aka A Biographical Dictionary of the Cinema 1975 edition described it as a personal opinionated and obsessive biographical dictionary of the cinema Thirty five years and several editions later that description still holds true of this expanded work The new dictionary summarizes salient facts about its subjects lives and discusses their film credits in terms of the quality of the filmmakers work In ambition it has competitors including Leslie Halliwell's various editions of Halliwell's Filmgoers Companion 12th ed 1997 and Halliwell's Who's Who in the Movies edited by John Walker 4th ed rev and updated 2006 which cover films and technical terms categories not included in Thomson's but whose entries are neutral and exceedingly brief Additionally Francophile Richard Roud's edited Cinema A Critical Dictionary The Major Filmmakers 2 v 1980 is as passionate a work as Thomson's but narrower in scope with entries written by various experts rather than only by Roud Finally the multivolume magnum opus The International Dictionary of Films and Filmmakers 4th ed 2000 ed by T Pendergast and S Pendergast 2nd ed ed by N Thomas v 1 CH May 91 1st ed ed by C Lyon v 1 2 CH Jan 85 v 3 CH Apr 87 v 4 5 CH Jun 88 covers everything films directors actors writers and production artists with generous measured scholarly entries and lavish illustrations However it looms large and heavy unlike the handy one volume work by Thomson Arguably Thomson's work for its scope is the most fun the most convenient and the most engaging title All libraries supporting people interested in film should buy it It will get lots of use and provide very good value for the money

Liberalism and the Challenge of Climate Change Christopher Shaw, 2023-08-25 In this book, Christopher Shaw analyses how liberalism has shaped our understanding of climate change and how liberalism is legitimated in the face of a crisis for which liberalism has no answers. The language and symbolism we use to make sense of climate change arose in the post-World War II liberal institutions of the West. This language and symbolism in neutralising the philosophical and ideological challenge climate change poses to the legitimacy of free market liberalism has also closed off the possibility of imagining a different kind of future for humanity. The book is structured around a repurposing of the guardrail concept commonly used in climate science narratives to communicate the boundary between safe and dangerous climate change. Five discursive guardrails are identified which define a boundary between safe and dangerous ideas about how to respond to climate change. The theoretical treatment of these issues is complemented with data from interviews with opinion formers, decision makers, and campaigners exploring what models of human nature and political possibilities guide their approach to the politics of climate change governance. This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of climate change, liberal politics, environmental communication, and environmental politics and philosophy in general.
