Exploring the Conditions that Impact Local Administration Responsiveness work to Migrants in selected Metropolitan Municipalities of South Africa Kibreab Habtemichael Gebereselassie, 2022-01-03 Research on local administration responsiveness towards migrants and non citizens revealed that demographic characteristics in local municipalities have often caused challenges for local administrations to be responsive to the diverse needs of their communities Lucio et al 2013 Lucio 2016 The objective of this study was to explore the conditions that impact on the local administration s responsiveness work to migrants in Durban Cape Town Johannesburg metropolitan municipalities of South Africa The study s goal is met by identifying five major conditions that impact the local administration s responsiveness work to migrants in the study areas Conducted in two rounds field research the study used qualitative research design methods Semistructured interviews group discussions field memos and observations were used to collect data Thematic analysis method was implemented to investigate and analyze the collected raw data This dissertation also used relevant theory as framework and guide to uncover elements of local administrative responsiveness which are associated with migrants The study identified and demonstrated that five major conditions impact the local administration s responsiveness work to migrants in the study areas Local administration work environment administration organizational structure and professionalism external control from elected officials and local politics migrant s community association and economic contribution of migrants are the main conditions that impact on the responsiveness work of the local administration The findings also showed that anchored in the above five conditions administrative responsiveness also varies across the selected study areas This study also contributed by adding new insights about the mechanisms on how the local administration can address the issues of migrants who do not have a direct representation in the local government structure Accordingly for a better responsiveness work to migrants and to support the inclusion of migrants who do not have a direct political representation the study proposes recommendation for policy practice and research that targets on local administration responsiveness work to migrants

Police Work and Identity Andrew Faull, 2017-09-07 This is a book about the men and women who police contemporary South Africa Drawing on rich original ethnographical data it considers how officers make sense of their jobs and how they find meaning in their duties It demonstrates that the dynamics that lead to police abuses and scandals in transitional and neo liberalising regimes such as South Africa can be traced to the day to day experiences and ambitions of the average police officer It is about the stories they tell themselves about themselves and their social worlds and how these shape the order they produce through their work By focusing on police officers this book positions the individual in primacy over the organisation asking what policing looks like when motivated by the pursuit of ontological security in precarious contexts It acknowledges but downplays the importance of police culture in determining officers attitudes and behaviour and reminds readers that most officers lives are entangled in and shaped by a range of social political and cultural forces It suggests that a job in the South African Police Service SAPS is primarily just that a job Most officers join the organisation after other dreams have slipped beyond reach their presence in the Service being almost accidental But once employed they re write their self narratives and enact carefully choreographed performances to ease managerial and public pressure and to rationalize their coercive practices In an era where evidence and what works reigns supreme and where cop culture is often deemed a primary socializing force this book emphasises how officers personal histories ambitions and vulnerabilities remain central to how policing unfolds on the street

Police Integrity in South Africa Sanja Kutnjak Ivkovich, Adri Sauerman, 2020-04-29 Policing in South Africa has gained notoriety through its extensive history of oppressive law enforcement In 1994 as the country s apartheid system was replaced with a democratic order the new government faced the significant challenge of transforming the South African police force into a democratic police agency the South African Police Service SAPS that would provide unbiased policing to all the country s people More than two decades since the initiation of the reforms it appears that the SAPS has rapidly developed a reputation as a police agency beset by challenges to its integrity This book offers a unique perspective by providing in depth analyses of police integrity in South Africa It is a case study that systematically and empirically explores the contours of police integrity in a young democracy Using the organizational theory of police integrity the book analyzes the complex set of historical legal political social and economic circumstances shaping police integrity A discussion of the theoretical framework is accompanied by the results of a nationwide survey of nearly 900 SAPS officers probing their familiarity with official rules their expectations of discipline within the SAPS and their willingness to report misconduct The book also examines the influence of the respondents race gender and supervisory status on police integrity Written in a clear and direct style this book will appeal to students and scholars of criminology policing sociology political science as well as to police administrators interested in expanding their knowledge about police integrity and enhancing it in their organizations

Urban Informality in South Africa and Zimbabwe Inocent Moyo, Trynos Gumbo, 2021-01-09 This book adds to the research of urban informality in the Global South with a specific focus on South Africa and Zimbabwe. It addresses the agency and the potential transformative capacity of the phenomenon of urban informality in connection with Southern African cities and towns. It adopts a political economy approach to analyse the evolution of informality in cities and its implications for urban planning. It brings to bear how the South African and Zimbabwean historical and/or ideological and contemporary political and economic trajectories have impacted on the ever-changing nature of urban informality both spatially and structurally and/or compositionally, thus resulting in unique urban materialities which are aspects that have scarcely been studied or discussed in the extant literature. This book therefore seeks to close the academic gap by dealing with the dearth of literature on spatial re-locational discourses of urban informality. The work positions urban informality as a resilient force with potency in terms of political mobilisation and re-shaping urban spaces. Though these are fundamental issues, they have received comparatively little attention, especially in literature that focuses on the Southern African region. Accordingly, undergraduate and postgraduate students as well as academics in the fields of Urban Geography, Political Science, Development Studies, Sociology, Town and Regional Planning, among others, will find the range of topics and depth of coverage in this book particularly valuable. Similarly, practitioners and activists on issues of urban informality and urban governance will find the book very useful.

The Handbook of Displacement Peter Adey, Janet C. Bowstead, Katherine Brickell, Vandana Desai, Mike Dolton, Alasdair Pinkerton, Ayesha Siddiqi, 2020-12-11 This Handbook provides the knowledge and tools needed to understand how displacement is lived, governed and mediated as an unfolding and grounded process bound up in spatial inequities of power and injustice. The handbook ensures first that internal displacements and their everyday re-occurrences are not overlooked; second, it questions who counts by including displaced people who are less obviously identifiable and a clearly circumscribed or categorised group; third, it stresses that while displacement suggests mobility, there are also periods and spaces of enforced stillness that are not adequately reflected in the displacement literature; and fourth, it re-evokes and explores the place in displacement by critically interrogating people's right to place and the significance of placemaking, unmaking and remaking in the contemporary world. The 50 plus chapters are organised across seven themes designed to further develop interdisciplinary study of the technologies, journeys, traces, governance, more than human representation and resisting of displacement. Each of these thematic sections begins with an intervention which spotlights actions to creatively and strategically intervene in displacement. The interventions explore myriad meanings and manifestations of displacement and its contestation from the perspective of displaced people, artists, writers, activists, scholar-activists and scholars involved in practice-oriented research. The Handbook will be an essential companion for academics, students and practitioners committed to forging solidarity, care and home in an era of displacement.

Fighting For Mandela - The Explosive Autobiography of The Woman Who Helped to Destroy Apartheid Barbara Jones & Priscilla Jana, 2016-02-25 Priscilla Jana is a legendary figure in South African revolutionary politics As an Indian woman who had experienced racial oppression first hand she decided to use her degree in law to fight for the rights of her fellow people and do all she could to bring down the Apartheid state who saw her as a very real threat At one time she represented every single political prisoner on Robben Island including both the late Nelson Mandela and his wife Winnie Priscilla spent her days in court fighting human rights case after human rights case but it was at night when her real work was done As part of an underground cell she fought tirelessly to bring down the hated government This activism however came at a price One of South Africa s infamous banned persons for five years Priscilla was unable to take part in any political activities enter any place where a large number of people were gathered and had her movements severely restricted Worse her own home was attacked with petrol bombs on multiple occasions Undeterred Priscilla Jana continued her work even adopting the baby daughter of a client imprisoned on Robben Island bringing her up educating her and providing a loving home Finally upon Mandela s release and the political revolution of her beloved country Priscilla s work was rewarded as she was elected as a member of South Africa s first democratic parliament Later she was to become an ambassador to both The Netherlands and Ireland Now retired and living in Cape Town Priscilla still works and waits for her most fervent desire the true healing and unification of South Africa

Let's Stop Calling it an Achievement Gap Autumn A. Arnett, 2019-01-01 Between 1980 and 2005 45 states were involved in lawsuits around equity of funding and adequacy of education provided to all students in the state Indeed this investigation could have included any cities in America and the themes likely would have been the same Lower funding and resources disproportionate numbers of teachers and school leaders who do not look like the students they serve debates over the public s responsibility to provide fair and equitable education for all students in the jurisdiction implicit biases from the top to the bottom and a resegregation of schools in America Integration for Black families was never about an idea that Black students were better off if they could be around White students it was about the idea that Black students would be better off if they could have access to the same education that White students had but residential segregation still enables de facto school segregation when it isn t coded into policy For the overwhelming majority of Black students they re stuck in segregated underperforming schools Schools where the teachers are dedicated to the mission but where the cities and districts and states have failed to uphold their basic responsibility to maintain the upkeep of the schools and provide enough desks for each child and current textbooks
