Jonathan L. Black-Branch, Dieter Fleck

South African Defence Force Application Forms 2015:

South Africa's Post-Apartheid Military Lindy Heinecken, 2020-01-01 This timely book examines how the South African National Defence Force has adapted to the country's new security political and social environment since 1994. In South Africa's changed political state, how has civilian control of the military been implemented and what does this mean for defence in a democracy? This book presents an overview of the security environment, how the mission focus of the military has changed and the implications for force procurement, force preparation, force employment and force sustainability. The author addresses other issues such as the effect of integrating former revolutionary soldiers into a professional armed force, the effect of affirmative action on meritocracy, recruitment and retention, military veterans looking at the difficulties they face in reintegrating back into society and finding gainful employment, gender equality and mainstreaming the rise of military unions and why a confrontational instead of a more corporatist approach to labour relations has emerged. HIV/AIDS and the consequences this holds for the military in terms of its operational effectiveness. In closing, the author highlights key events that have caused the SANDF to become lost in transition and transformation, spelling out some lessons learned. The conclusions she draws are pertinent for the future of defence security and civil-military relations of countries around the world.

Private Military and Security Contractors Gary Schaub, Jr., Ryan Keltz, 2016-06-16 In Private Military and Security Contractors, PMSCs, a multinational team of scholars and experts address a developing phenomenon: controlling the use of privatized force by states in international politics. Robust analyses of the evolving multi-layered tapestry of formal and informal mechanisms of control address the microfoundations of the market, such as the social and role identities of contract employees, their acceptance by military personnel and potential tensions between them. The extent and willingness of key states—South Africa, the United States, Canada, the United Kingdom and Israel—to monitor and enforce discipline to structure their contractual relations with PMSCs on land and at sea is examined, as is the ability of the industry to regulate itself. Also discussed is the nascent international legal regime to reinforce state and industry efforts to encourage effective practices, punish inappropriate behavior and shape the market to minimize the hazards of loosening states' oligopolistic control over the means of legitimate organized violence. The volume presents a theoretically informed synthesis of micro and macro levels of analysis, offering new insights into the challenges of controlling the agents of organized violence used by states for scholars and practitioners alike.

Researching the Military Helena Carreiras, Celso Castro, Sabina Frederic, 2016-03-02 Researching the Military focuses on the experiences of researchers who study the military around the world. It explores the historical, social, institutional and personal factors that frame research and scrutinize the way knowledge in this area impacts society and policy. More than merely analyzing research experiences yet necessarily including them, it is also about the experiences of researchers, their position with regard to the object of their studies, the institutional context where they work and the way their research impacts the academic and policy-making fields in the respective countries. The common theme to the various chapters is reflexivity a conscious effort at addressing the conditions of research and the position of the researcher and the research participants in that interface By collecting diverse experiences of researchers from across the world this volume aims to enhance reflexivity in the field of military studies and to encourage the exchange of knowledge between the academic field and the military arena This book will be of much interest to students of military studies research methods sociology social anthropology and security studies in general

The Handbook of African Defence and Armed Forces Evert Kleynhans, Marco Wyss, 2025-03-01 The Handbook of African Defence and Armed Forces provides the first in depth and multifaceted analysis of the evolution and current state of national defence policies strategies doctrines capabilities security challenges and strategic responses of African states and their armed forces Geographically these aspects are investigated at the national sub regional and regional levels Chronologically they are analysed against the backdrop of the superpower withdrawal from the continent in the 1990s and the so called New Scramble for Africa which has seen a crescendo of renewed great power interest in the continent's resources as well as its strategic role location and relevance since the 2000s The book takes a bottom up and African centric approach and is organized around five key themes i the differing security outlooks and defence policies of African powers within the region and the different sub regions ii the strategies doctrines transformation and employment of African armed forces iii the relationship between African armed forces with sub regional regional and international organizations iv the challenges that African states and their armed forces have been facing and their strategic responses and v the position of African perspectives and agency in the context of continental and international security and defence Understanding African security and defence especially in terms of each individual nation's ability to contribute to peacekeeping operations counterterrorism border security and internal security requires a focus on the national level of armed forces and defence policies this in turn sheds light on sub regional and regional divergences challenges and cooperation Based on this framework the chapters in this volume offer comprehensive African perspectives on African and international security and defence and in doing so show the agency of the continent's countries and armed forces in International Security and Relations

Geopolitics and Development Marcus Power, 2019-01-25 Geopolitics and Development examines the historical emergence of development as a form of governmentality from the end of empire to the Cold War and the War on Terror It illustrates the various ways in which the meanings and relations of development as a discourse an apparatus and an aspiration have been geopolitically imagined and enframed The book traces some of the multiple historical associations between development and diplomacy and seeks to underline the centrality of questions of territory security statehood and sovereignty to the pursuit of development along with its enrolment in various ordering practices In making a case for greater attention to the evolving nexus between geopolitics and development and with particular reference to Africa the book explores the historical and contemporary geopolitics of foreign aid the interconnections between development and counterinsurgency the role of the state and social movements in re imagining development the rise of re emerging donors like China India and Brazil and the growing significance of South South flows of investment trade and development cooperation Drawing on post colonial and postdevelopment approaches and on some of the author s own original empirical research this is an essential critical and interdisciplinary analysis of the complex and dynamic political geographies of global development Primarily intended for scholars and post graduate students in development studies human geography African studies and international relations this book provides an engaging invaluable and up to date resource for making sense of the complex entanglement between geopolitics and development past and present

Military Assistance on Request and the Use of Force Erika De Wet,2020-03-26 In countries such as Syria Iraq South Sudan and Yemen internationally recognized governments embroiled in protracted armed conflicts and with very little control over their territory have requested direct military assistance from other states These requests are often accepted by the other states despite the circumvention of the United Nations Security Council and extensive violation of international humanitarian law and human rights In this book Erika De Wet examines the authority entitled to extend a request for or consent to direct military assistance as well as the type of situations during which such assistance may be requested notably whether it may be requested during a civil war Ultimately De Wet addresses the question of if and to what extent the proliferation of military assistance on the request of a recognized government is changing the rules in international law applying to the use of force

Intra-Africa Migrations Inocent Moyo,Jussi P. Laine,Christopher Changwe Nshimbi,2021-02-21 This book discusses regional and continental integration in Africa by examining the management of migration across the continent It examines borders and securitisation of migration and the challenges and opportunities that arise out of reconfigured continental demographics The book offers insights on intra Africa migrations and highlights how intra continental migration creates socio economic and cultural borders It explores how these borders beyond the physical boundaries of states including the Berlin Conference constructed borders create cultural divides challenges for economic integration and cross border security and irregular migration patterns While the movement of economic goods is valued for regional economic integration the mobility of people is seen as a threat This approach to migration contradicts the intentions of true integration and development and triggers negative responses such as xenophobia that cannot be addressed by simply managing the physical border and allowing free movement This book engages in a pivotal discussion of these issues which are hitherto missing in African border studies by demonstrating the ubiquity and overreaching influence of various kinds of borders on the African continent With multidisciplinary contributions that provide an in depth understanding of intra Africa migrations and strategies for enhanced migration management this book will be a useful resource for scholars and students studying geography politics security studies development studies African studies and sociology

Counter-Insurgency in Nigeria Akali Omeni, 2017-09-08 This book offers a detailed examination of the counter insurgency operations undertaken by the Nigerian military against Boko Haram between 2011 and 2017 Based on extensive fieldwork conducted with military units in Nigeria Counter Insurgency in Nigeria has two main aims First it seeks to provide an understanding of the Nigerian military's internal role a role that today as a result of internal threats pivots towards counter insurgency The book illustrates how organizational culture historical experience institutions and doctrine are critical to understanding the Nigerian military and its attitudes and actions against the threat of civil disobedience today and in the past The second aim of the book is to examine the Nigerian military campaign against Boko Haram insurgents specifically plans and operations between June 2011 and April 2017 Within this second theme emphasis is placed on the idea of battlefield innovation and the reorganization within the Nigerian military since 2013 as the Nigerian Army and Air Force recalibrated themselves for COIN warfare A certain mystique has surrounded the technicalities of COIN operations by the Army against Boko Haram and this book aims to disperse that veil of secrecy Furthermore the work's analysis of the air force's role in counter insurgency is unprecedented within the literature on military warfare in Nigeria This book will be of great interest to students of military studies counter insurgency counter terrorism African politics and security studies in general

Peacekeeping in Africa Marco Jowell, 2018-02-21 In recent decades African states have developed an impressive infrastructure for training their peacekeepers In addition peacekeeping peacebuilding and associated areas of conflict resolution have become significant areas of employment Marco Jowell has spent a decade working in peacekeeping training in East Africa initially as one of the foreign Technical Advisers at the Peace Support Operations PSO training centre in Kenya the International Peace Support Training Centre IPSTC and subsequently as a strategic adviser to the Rwanda Peace Academy Using first hand experience he considers how military forces from a variety of African states with great differences in history language and political systems and with militaries with different cultures and capabilities can conduct complicated multinational peacekeeping operations He shows how regional peacekeeping training centres provide an environment for African elites predominately military to interact with each other through shared training and experiences This process of interaction or socialisation improves skills but also encourages cohesion so that future African led missions will be managed by well trained officers who are comfortable and willing to work within a regional or Pan African framework Jowell shows that part of the aim of peacekeeping training centres is to foster a Pan African outward looking ideology or disposition as well as improving technical ability This book will be essential reading for all involved with African military and security studies and analysts of peacekeeping training and operations

Pathways for Irregular Forces in Southeast Asia Atsushi Yasutomi, Rosalie Arcala Hall, Saya Kiba, 2022-03-30 An exploration of the roles that pro and anti government militias private armed groups vigilantes and gangs play in local communities in the new democracies of Southeast Asia Scholars have typically characterized irregular forces as spoilers and infiltrators in post conflict peacebuilding processes The contributors to this book challenge this conventional understanding of irregular forces in Southeast Asia demonstrating that they often attract solid support from civilians and can be major contributors to the building of local security a process by which local residents in the absence of an effective police force develop partner or are at least included in the management of community crimes and other violence They analyze irregular forces dealings with political actors at the community level explaining why and how forces are incorporated in and collaborate with legitimate institutions without using violence against them Offering a new approach to dealing with irregular forces in Southeast Asia contributors explore new theoretical frameworks that are better suited for evaluating irregular forces relationship to different security providers and the political environments in the region Specifically they examine case studies from Indonesia Timor Leste the Philippines and Thailand A valuable resource for researchers students and practitioners in the areas of conflict resolution peacebuilding and security governance especially those with a focus on Southeast Asia This book will also be of great interest to scholars of the sociology and anthropology of the region

'Africa Forms the Key' Suryakanthie Chetty, 2021-01-04 This book examines the work of prominent South African geologist Alex Du Toit as a means of understanding the debate around continental drift both in segregation era South Africa and internationally It contextualises Du Toit's work within a particularly formative period of South African science from the paleoanthropological discoveries that sparked debates about the origins of humankind to Jan Smuts' own theory of holism. Beyond South African scientific discoveries, the book sets Du Toit's work against a backdrop of ideological struggles over space both domestically in terms of segregation and nationalism as well as internationally as South Africa sought to assert its position within the Commonwealth. These debates were embodied by Du Toit's work on the theory of continental drift which put Africa and South Africa at the centre geologically and geographically. The author also focuses on the divisions in geology caused by drift theory, tracing the vigorous intellectual debate and dissent indicative of the ideological milieu within which scientific thought is constructed. It traces the history of continental drift from its inception in the nineteenth century and later work of Alfred Wegener which was both elaborated upon and substantiated by Du Toit. The study further focuses on Du Toit's research on continental drift in South African and South America and the geological fossil and climatological evidence used to bolster this theory.

The contributors include many leading scholars in the field from the US and Europe.

The United Nations Security Council and the Authorisation of Force Marko Suvacic, 2025-08-07. This book examines the United Nations Security Council's authorisation of the use of force, considering the extensive body of UN Security Council resolutions across its now eighty years of existence. As one of the established exceptions to the Article 2(4) UN Charter prohibition on the use of force, UN Security Council authorisation of force remains a key focus for both States and scholars alike. Despite the apparent consequences of authorisation, authorising resolutions lack prescribed formats or mandatory content. The UN Security Council has over time, however, developed a consistent practice of prior explicit authorisation. The development of this practice is reflected in a number of essential characteristics within authorising resolutions of the UN Security Council These include explicit determinations of a threat to international peace and security the invocation of Chapter VII or VIII of the UN Charter the use of specific authorising language the inclusion of time or functional limits on authorisation and the imposition of reporting obligations on those authorised to use force The book ultimately argues that prior explicit authorisation constitutes a well established practice rejecting the legality and admissibility of implicit and retroactive authorisation Military Review ,2016 Civil Society and Transitional Justice in Asia and the Pacific Claire Cronin,Lia Kent,JoAnne Wallis,2019-01-01 Over the last two decades civil society has helped catalyse responses to the legacies of violent conflicts and oppressive political regimes in Asia and the Pacific Civil society has advocated for the establishment of criminal trials and truth commissions monitored their operations and pushed for take up of their recommendations It has also initiated community based transitional justice responses Yet there has been little in depth examination of the breadth and diversity of these roles This book addresses this gap by analysing the heterogeneity of civil society transitional justice activity in Asia and the Pacific Based upon empirically grounded case studies of Timor Leste Indonesia Cambodia Myanmar Bougainville Solomon Islands and Fiji this book illustrates that civil society actors can have different and sometimes competing priorities resources and approaches to transitional justice Their work is also underpinned by diverse understandings of justice By reflecting on the richness of this activity this book advances contemporary debates about transitional justice and civil society It will also be a valuable resource for scholars and practitioners working on Asia and the Pacific

International Clinical Sociology Jan Marie Fritz,2020-12-22 Clinical sociology is a multidisciplinary field that seeks to improve life situations for individuals and groups This book showcases the art and science of clinical sociology from around the world It is the first book to present basic clinical sociology diagrams and models in addition to detailed histories of clinical sociology in the United States Quebec France and Japan A range of interventions are discussed in light of a region s economic social political and disciplinary history The book presents illustrative case studies from leaders in the field and it serves the need of graduate level courses from around the world

Localising Memory in Transitional Justice Mina Rauschenbach,Julia Viebach,Stephan Parmentier,2022-05-30 This collection adds to the critical transitional justice scholarship that calls for transitional justice from below and that makes visible the complex and oftentimes troubled entanglements between justice endeavours locality and memory making Broadening this perspective it explores informal memory practices across various contexts with a focus on their individual and collective dynamics and their intersections reaching also beyond a conceptualisation of memory as mere symbolic reparation and politics of memory It seeks to highlight the hidden unwritten and multifaceted in today s memory boom by focusing on the memorialisation practices of communities activists families and survivors Organising its analytical focal point around the localisation of memory it offers valuable and new insights on how and under what conditions localised memory practices may contribute to recognition and social transformation as well as how they may at best be inclusive or exclusive of dynamic and diverse memories Drawing on inter and multi disciplinary approaches this book brings an in depth and nuanced understanding of local memory practices and the dynamics attached to these in transitional justice contexts It will be of much interest to students and scholars of memory and genocide studies peace and conflict studies transitional justice sociology and anthropology
