Religion, Spirituality and Everyday Practice Giuseppe Giordan, William H. Swatos, Jr., 2011-08-14 The current generation of young adults at least in the Western world has shown a marked tendency toward a preference for describing themselves as spiritual as contrasted to religious This book seeks to examine the possible meanings and consequences associated with this contrast in terms of the similarities and differences that affect those who use these terms with respect to the everyday practices that they themselves employ or believe should follow from being self defined as religious or spiritual or not The several chapters in this volume take up the religious spiritual contrast specifically through investigations into practice In what ways do people who claim to be religious or spiritual define these self images as manifest in their own lives How on a daily basis does a person who considers himself or herself religious or spiritual live out that self image in specific ways that she or he can describe to others even if not share with others Are there ways that being spiritual can involve religion or ways that being religious can involve spirituality and if so how do these differ from concepts in prior eras e g Ignatian spirituality Orthodox spirituality Anglican spirituality etc We also explore if there are institutions of spiritual practice to which those who term themselves spiritual turn or if the difference implied by these terms may instead be between institutionalized and de institutionalized expressions of practice including but not limited to self spiritualities
