History After the Three Worlds Arif Dirlik, Vinay Bahl, Peter Gran, 2000 History as a discipline faces a crisis of identity as Eurocentrism fades in a world where globalized visions compete to explain historical processes Facing the challenge squarely this volume_ comprising specialists on Asia Africa and Latin America_ explores the state of historical analysis in various world regions and appraises current views on what defines and challenges historical knowledge It is widely accepted that Eurocentrism no longer seems acceptable in a world where others are reasserting their own notions of past and future The post-World War II spatialities that guided both historical analysis and the division of labor in historical work are in the process of disappearing into more globalized visions Constituencies left out of history in the past are making demands for the recognition of their historical presence History as epistemology is under attack as a marker of Eurocentric modernity from non historical ways of thinking as well as from ideologies of postmodernism that deny to history its claims to truth Indeed the current situation in the field has been described by one distinguished historian as a cacophonous confusion O The challenge historians face is how to imagine new ways of writing history that overcome this confusion without falling back upon ideological and methodological prejudices that reproduce the problems of the past in new guises The contributors discuss how these challenges are voiced and met in their different areas of specialization Unsurprising in a volume that addresses a variety of regions and issues that are not only technically historiographical but also deeply cultural and political the authors differ in their appraisal of the challenges presented by globalization postmodernism or postcolonialism Yet they are united in their recognition of the validity of historical ways of knowing and their reaffirmation of the importance of history in grasping contemporary cultural and political problems It is because history is entangled in a Eurocentric modernity that in a postmodern world it provides the medium for articulating alternatives to Eurocentrism_and to history itself The Church Quarterly Review ,1925
