Springboard to Calculus Ray B. Toland, Alex Chaney, 2004-08
Springboard to Calculus A Workbook Approach is a working pre calculus math review for college bound math science and engineering students. The text is also useful as a self directed one to two week course.

Abstracts of Papers Presented to the American Mathematical Society American Mathematical Society, 2007 Bold Ventures Raizen, 2012-12-06 This book presents comprehensive results from case studies of three innovations in mathematics education that have much to offer toward understanding current reforms in this field. Each chapter tells the story of a case in rich detail with extensive documentation and in the voices of many of the participants: the innovators, the teachers, the students. Similarly, Volume 2 of Bold Ventures presents the results from case studies of five innovations in science education. Volume 1 provides a cross case analysis of all eight innovations. Many U.S. readers certainly will be very familiar with the name of at least one if not all of the mathematics innovations discussed in this volume: for example, the NCTM Standards and probably with their general substance. Much of the education community's familiarity with these arises from the project's own dissemination efforts. The research reported in this volume, however, is one of the few detailed studies of these innovations undertaken by researchers outside the projects themselves.

Precalculus Arthur Goodman, Lewis Hirsch, 2000 These experienced authors have been praised for their in depth explanations and their commitment to avoiding a cookbook approach. Their text addresses three critical issues in teaching precalculus: poor student preparation, the need for thoughtful integration of the graphing calculator, and poor student study skills.

Mega-regionalism and Great Power Geo-economic Competition. Xianbai Ji, 2021-09-22. The regional trade governance architecture is in flux. The latest wave of regionalism in the form of mega-regional trade partnerships between countries with major shares of the world economy occurred in the aftermath of the Global Financial Crisis of 2008-09. The most systematically important mega-FTAs included the Trans-Pacific Partnership led by the United States, the US-China backed Regional Comprehensive Economic Partnership, and the Transatlantic Trade and Investment Partnership between the European Union (EU) and the US. Drawing on policy diffusion and competitive regionalism literatures, Xianbai Ji develops an innovative model of competitive spill-over to uncover the historical and contemporary sources of mega-regionalism resulting from a temporal clustering of mega-FTA initiatives from great powers. In the book, mega-FTA is conceptualised as an instrument of geo-economic competition between the US, China, and the EU. Each aspired to leverage its mega-FTA to gain an edge over its rivals in economic, geopolitical, and legal terms. Through a mixed-method research strategy involving computable general equilibrium modelling, game theory, desk research, and perception survey, Ji generates an impressive chorus of quantitative, qualitative, and perceptual data demonstrating that the rise of mega-regionalism was driven by the multidimensional competition between the US, China, and the EU over international economic benefits, geopolitical influence, and the authority to write rules governing emerging trade issues. This book will attract academics, think tankers, practitioners, and postgraduate students interested in regionalism, international trade, international political economy, applied trade policy analysis, great power competition, geo-economics, and international relations.

China-India Military Confrontation: 21st Century Perspectives. DR SUBHASH KAPILA, 2015-12-30. The China-India military confrontation in the High Himalayas as a consequence of China's military occupation of Tibet in 1950 and the unprovoked Chinese invasion of India in 1962 has in 2015 graduated from a boundary dispute to an intense geopolitical tussle in Asia's geopolitical rivalries. Tibet, in realistic terms, better and more precisely described as China-occupied Tibet, has emerged as China's core issue and drives China's intractability in resolution of the China-inflicted boundary dispute and territorial grab of large tracts of Indian territory. Though officially unstated but equally true, Tibet is also a core issue for India. Strategically, Tibet is civilisationally, culturally, and spiritually more closely linked to India than China. The dimensions of China-India military confrontation stand radically transformed in the 21st Century with the insertion of the nuclear and maritime dimensions, diluting China's coercive capabilities against India. The 21st Century is likely to witness an intense Cold War between China and India, which most likely could be subsumed in the evolving Cold War II between China and the United States. Contextually, the United States can no longer afford to continue as passive spectator of the China India military confrontation in the 21st Century Evolving geopolitical compulsions and imperatives would ultimately force the United States to dispense with its strategic ambiguities on China and Pakistan and push the United States to stand by India in the intensifying China India military confrontation Such a game changer would ensure that the United States not only stands on the right side of history but also ensures the continued strategic embedment in Indo Pacific Asia of the United States with Indias strategic support Dr Subhash Kapila Reality TV Anita Biressi, Heather Nunn, 2005-05-11 This book analyses new and hybrid genres of television including observational documentaries talk shows game shows docu soaps dramatic reconstructions law and order programming and 24 7 formats such as Big Brother and Survivor Mass Communication Tyler Miller, 2019-04-09 Mass Communication has taken deep roots in the world Mass communication research is a sprawling and multidisciplinary field of research approaches and theories drawing inspiration from a range of disciplines in the humanities and the social sciences and even from science disciplines such as mathematics computing and engineering It continually develops and adapts to the changing nature and application of media technologies as well as changing political and social concerns with the media It influences almost all the aspects of human life viz medical education culture tradition and fashion etc Like all other subjects mass communication also is worthy of research so that it can develop in a more understandable form This book presents an epistemological view of levels of analysis It guides the readers to understanding the challenges of media measurement its quantification datafication and assessment and helps in developing skills of media audience analysis A comparative analysis is also made as where required The author is hopeful that this book will be very useful to those who have a flair of learning more about the mass communication
