

Effect on capital is hard for almost all countries, the economies have all deteriorated! The worldwide indicators of the economies indicate, for example, that Japan and the European countries are not increasing or stabilizing capital assets.

The economies may also have all been stopped to begin the process of recovery. In this case, since the volume of the investment in R&D continuously grows, this might mean that society is not achieving that level of the returns of the investments.

It might indeed be argued that the investment in R&D continuously grows because the growth rate has not yet been reached, for social capital is small.
