Safe Handling Information

The HP Personal Media Drive is designed to be used as a stationary unit. It is very important that you handle this drive carefully to avoid hardware damage and data loss. Please read the following warnings before attempting to install, use, or move your HP Personal Media Drive.

Care and Handling of Your HP Personal Media Drive

WARNING: The warnings for the care and handling of the HP Personal Media Drive are listed below.

- Do not move the drive while it is operating to avoid hardware damage and potential data loss. You can safely move your drive only when you have properly disconnected and powered off the drive through the operating system.
- When running for long periods of time, the aluminum case of the Personal Media Drive may become very warm. This is part of the HP Personal Media Drive's advanced design and is completely normal.
- The built-in, low-noise fan is designed to automatically turn on at pre-set temperatures. If you are using the HP Personal Media Drive connected externally to your PC, please place the drive in a well-ventilated area.
- Do not move the PC with the HP Personal Media Drive attached to a USB port, or while inserted into specially designed HP PC drive bays.
- Incorrect handling, such as dropping the drive, can cause data loss and invalidates the warranty.
- Do not attempt to open the drive's case. This action voids the warranty.
- Do not set the drive on its side, as it may fall over and cause damage.
- Do not remove any cables or power cords without properly disconnecting the drive through the operating system.
- Do not set any liquids or drinks on the drive. Liquids can damage the internal electronics.
- Do not block airflow around the drive while the drive is turned on.
- Do not stack anything on top of the drive; this can overheat and damage your drive.

The security of cryptographic protocols remains as relevant as ever with systems such as TLS and Signal being responsible for much of the Web s security guarantees One main venue for the analysis and verification of these protocols has been automated analysis with formal verification tools such as ProVerif CryptoVerif and Tamarin Indeed these tools have led to confirming security guarantees as well as finding attacks in secure channel protocols including TLS and Signal However formal verification in general has not managed to significantly attract a wider audience Verifpal is new software for verifying the security of cryptographic protocols Building upon contemporary research in symbolic formal verification Verifpal s main aim is to appeal more to real world practitioners students and engineers without sacrificing comprehensive formal verification features In order to achieve this Verifpal introduces a new intuitive language for modeling protocols that is much easier to write and understand than the languages employed by existing tools At the same time Verifpal is able to model protocols under an active attacker with unbounded sessions and fresh values and supports queries for advanced security properties such as forward secrecy or key compromise impersonation Verifpal has already been used to verify security properties for Signal Scuttlebutt TLS 1.3 Telegram and other protocols It is a community focused project and available under a GPLv3 license The Verifpal language is meant to illustrate protocols close to how one may describe them in an informal conversation while still being precise and expressive enough for formal modeling Verifpal reasons about the protocol model with explicit principals Alice and Bob exist and have independent states Easy to Understand Analysis Output When a contradiction is found for a query the result is related in a readable format that ties the attack to a real world scenario This is done by using terminology to indicate how the attack could have been possible such as through a man in the middle on ephemeral keys Friendly and Integrated Software Verifpal comes with a Visual Studio Code extension that offers syntax highlighting and soon live query verification within Visual Studio Code allowing developers to obtain insights on their model as they are writing it
