Africa Peter Darvas, Shang Gao, Yijun Shen, Bilal Bawany, 2017-11-15 Despite a spectacular expansion of the higher education sector in Sub Saharan Africa the supply of tertiary education has generally failed to keep pace with demand and the region continues to lag all other regions in terms of access to tertiary education This is in part a consequence of deeply entrenched patterns of inequitable access to higher education and the perpetuation of what researchers refer to as elite systems To date access to tertiary education in Sub Saharan Africa has unduly benefitted students drawn from the region s wealthiest households and overall enrollment remains disproportionately male and metropolitan These factors stifle the catalytic potential of higher education corroding its potential for driving economic growth and sustaining poverty reduction Instead patterns of access to tertiary education have generally reinforced and reproduced social inequality instead of eroding its pernicious social and economic effects This report aims to inform an improved understanding of equity in tertiary enrollment in Sub Saharan African countries and to examine the extent to which inequity functions as a bottleneck inhibiting the ability of African universities to effectively drive improvements in overall quality of life and economic competitiveness In our survey of the evidence we also aim to identify which policies most effectively address the challenge of promoting equity of access in SSA tertiary education systems In order to achieve these objectives the report collects generates and analyzes empirical evidence on patterns of equity examines the underlying causes of inequity and evaluates government policies for addressing

 McDarby,Mila Petrova,Redda Seifeldin,2023-07-10 The COVID 19 pandemic has caused unprecedented disruption worldwide highlighting once again the interdependency of health and socioeconomic development and the global lack of health systems resilience Two years into the pandemic most countries report sustained disruptions across service delivery platforms and health areas with a profound impact on health outcomes The impact of these disruptions is magnified within marginalized communities and in countries experiencing protracted conflict There is an urgent need to focus on recovery through investment in the essential public health functions EPHFs and the foundations of health systems with a focus on primary health care and whole of government and society engagement The aim of this Research Topic is to gather transfer and promote operationalization of key experiences from COVID 19 to inform global and country level recovery that better promote health guide policy direction towards building health systems resilience and thereby ensure economic and social prosperity Experience with COVID 19 has demonstrated that traditional approaches to health system strengthening have failed to achieve the complementary goals of Universal Health Coverage UHC and health security with the divide between the most vulnerable and well off only widening Much of what had been learned from previous experiences such as Ebola in West Africa has not been widely applied This has left health and economic systems vulnerable to 21 st century public health challenges ranging from conflict and natural disasters to aging demographics and rising rates of non communicable and communicable diseases and antimicrobial resistance These challenges require intentional focus and investment as well as whole of government and society engagement with health to build health system resilience Greater action is needed to prevent the devastating effects of war and conflict on the health of the most vulnerable This Research Topic will convene the knowledge and practices of leaders in public health health systems and humanitarian and development sectors This is to ensure lessons from COVID 19 inform the recovery agenda and promote sustainable health and socioeconomic recovery for all Lest we forget and find ourselves again unprepared and vulnerable in the face of an even greater threat Chicago
