Long-Term Financial Sustainability Accounting and Reporting in the Public Sector Hassan Ouda,2024-09-25 This book addresses a longstanding issue that emerged fifty years ago and continues to persist the lack of an accounting and reporting system for financial sustainability Consequently the primary aim of this book is to develop a novel accounting and reporting system for measuring and reporting long term financial sustainability in the public sector The significance of this book lies in its introduction of an innovative role within the field of accounting. This role entails providing guidance and issuing alerts to governments regarding essential adjustments needed in current policies to ensure the long term financial sustainability of governmental entities. Through elucidating the prospective trajectory of public finance within the ongoing implementation of current policies, this approach functions as an early warning system for governments and empowering them to proactively modify their policies and transition from unsustainable scenarios to sustainable ones. The primary audience for this book includes practitioners, academics, students, professional bodies and various users of accounting information in the public sector such as public managers and policymakers seeking accounting information for corrective measures. Additionally, international organizations like the IMF and World Bank tasked with assessing countries' long term financial sustainability will find this work indispensable.

Climate Change, Conflict and (In)Security Timothy Clack, Ziya Meral, Louise Selisny, 2023-12-01. This book offers a multidisciplinary exploration of how climate change is impacting conflicts, contention and competition in the world. The volume examines how climate change is creating and exacerbating insecurities for millions of people globally and how states, inter governmental bodies and others are attempting to meet challenges today and in the near and medium term. It shows that climate change insecurity is relevant to a battery of security areas including warfighting, stabilisation, human security, influence and resilience and capacity building. The volume provides insights into how climate change has and will impact security at different scales and in different localities including national and ethnic tensions, food and water security, resource competition, mass displacement and even the recruitment profiles and operations of violent and extremist organisations. With contributions from pioneering researchers and practitioners, the book discusses shifting operational requirements and responsibilities and the need for clarity around the size and shape of capacity gaps. In addition to practitioners and policy makers working in these areas, the book will be of significant interest to researchers and students of defence studies, peace and conflict studies, climate change and environmental security and International Relations.

Business and Security Sector Reform Pedro Rosa Mendes, 2015-09-20. Challenges to security and human rights involving extractive and other industries gave rise to an evolving framework of policy standards and good practice generally known as business and human rights (BHR). Problems with inefficient and unaccountable security institutions are addressed by security sector reform SSR From an empirical perspective the view from the often mutual operating grounds of BHR and SSR both approaches share many challenges as well as end goals It is thus striking that only on rare occasions are challenges in governance of the security sector addressed upfront as problems of poor resource governance and vice versa This paper describes the grounds where SSR and BHR coincide in principles actors and activities and which synergies can be built on that base It makes the business case for SSR and the SSR case for business The paper assesses how SSR can channel resources and know how from business to address critical challenges related to ownership capacity and sustainability of reform processes Opportunities for bridging BHR and SSR are drawn from a broad range of policy and guidance and by looking at lessons from case studies on Guinea Colombia and Papua New Guinea SSR and BHR should not collide ideally they should cohere A variety of multistakeholder initiatives open new opportunities to bring this about with particular relevance to SSR in extractive environments The overall conclusion supported by practical propositions for implementation is that the existing policies and standards in SSR and BHR already allow and call for a less rigid approach to the challenges addressed in both fields
