Advanced Information Systems Engineering Klaus R. Dittrich, Andreas Geppert, Moira C. Norrie, 2003-05-15 Since the late 1980s the CAiSE conferences have provided a forum for the presentation and exchange of research results and practical experiences within the field of Information Systems Engineering CAiSE 2001 was the 13th conference in this series and was held from 4th to 8th June 2001 in the resort of Interlaken located near the three famous Swiss mountains the Eiger Mönch and Jungfrau The first two days consisted of pre-conference workshops and tutorials The workshop themes included requirements engineering evaluation of modeling methods data integration over the Web agent oriented information systems and the design and management of data warehouses Continuing the tradition of recent CAiSE conferences there was also a doctoral consortium The pre-conference tutorials were on the themes of e-business models and XML application development The main conference program included three invited speakers two tutorials and a panel discussion in addition to presentations of the papers in these proceedings We also included a special practice and experience session to give presenters an opportunity to report on and discuss experiences and investigations on the use of methods and technologies in practice We extend our thanks to the members of the program committee and all other referees without whom such conferences would not be possible The program committee whose members came from 20 different countries selected 27 high quality research papers and 3 experience reports from a total of 97 submissions The topics of these papers span the wide range of topics relevant to information systems engineering from requirements and design through to implementation and operation of complex and dynamic systems

Behavioral Specifications of Businesses and Systems Haim Kilov, Bernhard Rumpe, Ian Simmonds, 2013-03-09 Behavioral Specifications of Businesses and Systems deals with the reading writing and understanding of specifications The papers presented in this book describe useful and sometimes elegant concepts good practices in programming and in specifications and solid underlying theory that is of interest and importance to those who deal with increased complexity of business and systems Most concepts have been successfully used in actual industrial projects while others are from the forefront of research Authors include practitioners business thinkers academics and applied mathematicians These seemingly different papers address different aspects of a single problem taming complexity Behavioral Specifications of Businesses and Systems emphasizes simplicity and elegance in specifications without concentrating on particular methodologies languages or tools It shows how to handle complexity and specifically how to succeed in understanding and specifying businesses and systems based upon precise and abstract concepts It promotes reuse of such concepts and of constructs based on them without taking reuse for granted Behavioral Specifications of Businesses and Systems is the second volume of papers based on a series of workshops held alongside ACM's annual conference on Object Oriented Programming Systems Languages and Applications OOPSLA and European Conference on Object Oriented Programming ECOOP The first volume Object Oriented Behavioral Specifications edited by Haim Kilov and William Harvey was published by Kluwer Academic Publishers in 1996 ECRTS 2003, 2003 Annotation The typical subjects treated in the conference are traditionally related to scheduling communication operating systems design methods computer architectures networks performance analysis and many more During the last few years the field of real time systems quickly expanded toward new application areas including multimedia computing embedded systems and wireless networks Such new domains gave rise to new challenges and stimulated research in novel directions such as quality of service management energy aware computing stochastic scheduling and feedback based techniques for adaptive operating systems languages of the same family such as MSC ASN 1 and TTCN This led to the current scope of System Design Languages covering all stages of the development process including in particular SDL MSC UML ASN 1 eODL TTCN and URN The focus is clearly on the advantages to users and how to get from these languages the same advantage given by the ITU Specification and Description Language code generation from high level specifications
