

UC Prompt 2 Sample

I am ambidextrous. That in itself is a pretty cool parlor trick, and a fun way to confuse fellow classmates and teachers. However, what I realized in my high school years was how much society is driven towards right-handedness. Many things, such as cars, aren't even designed for people who prefer driving with their left foot instead of their right. As a person who can write with both my left and right hands, I use my talent to raise awareness for the subtle discriminations that are present in society. For me, it is very important to help people understand the microaggressions that have been ingrained into our minds.

My idea for using my ambidextrous abilities came during class, when I had to take the worst seat in the room – right in front of the loud and blasting AC. To get out of sitting at the desk, I told my teacher that I was left handed. Rather than taking my word for it, she made me prove it by writing a paragraph with my left hand. Afterwards, she told me there were no seats for left-handed students and told me to have a seat next to her. After that experience, I began to notice that there were very few items made for people who were left handed. On the other side, right-handed people seemed to take for granted the designs that were designed with them in mind.

Since then my activities for awareness have encompassed other guide for designing professional development programs for graduate students The teaching competencies framework presented here can serve as the intended curriculum for such programs The book will also be an excellent resource for evaluating programs and will be an excellent resource for academics who study graduate students This book presents the work of the Graduate Teaching Competencies Consortium to identify organize and clarify the competencies that graduate students need to teach effectively when they join the professoriate To achieve this goal the Consortium developed a framework of 10 teaching competencies organized around three overarching questions What do graduate students need to achieve by the end of their graduate education to be successful teacher scholars What do graduate students need to understand about higher education to have successful careers as educators What do graduate students need to do to be successful teachers during their graduate student careers Although much work has been done to identify the competencies of effective teachers in higher education only a small portion of this work has been conducted with graduate student instructors This is an important area of research given that graduate students are critical in the higher education academic pipeline Nationally graduate students teach between 25% and 50% of courses offered at the undergraduate level Graduate student teaching is also critical because during early teaching experiences teachers establish a teaching style and set of teaching skills which will endure as graduate students enter the professoriate It is important to develop a teaching competency framework that is specific to graduate student instructors as they often have unique needs and roles as teachers For example graduate student instructors are in the unique position of becoming experts in their field concurrent with learning to teach Moreover as many professional development programs for graduate student instructors evolve based upon factors such as available resources and perceived needs of graduate students this framework will be a useful aid for thoughtfully designing strategic evidence based comprehensive professional development opportunities and programs

Finding Peace of Mind and Keeping It James Emerson Hough, 2023-06-23 About the Book In this collection of his essays and writings James Emerson Hough reflects on the serenity of retirement living in the middle of his own private Certified Forest Preserve and Wildlife Habitat in Southeast Indiana the inspiration it engenders to be creative and the ability to focus his thinking He finds it rewarding to share his perspective but the selfish reason he writes is that it makes him a better person When asked why he writes Mr Hough admits that writing helps keep his mind alert and head on straight He is inspired to read and unlock novel ideas in his mind research them and develop compelling techniques to put them together in writing Writing is his habit He knows that no one can write anything who does not think that what they write is for the time history or do anything well who does not esteem their work to be of importance Old age has yet to creep on the author's mind and wisdom will never let him stand with another on unfriendly footing For him to write what will not become obsolete is to write sincerely to himself while attempting to satisfy his own curiosity Where Mr Hough found peace of mind peace of mind was waiting there Books are the quietest and most constant of friends the most patient of teachers and the most accessible and wisest if counselors

Worthwhile books that get into the world are written by successful people who utter what tens of millions feel though they cannot say. Certain books are vital, not leaving readers what they were. They shut the book a richer person. Finding Peace of Mind and Keeping It is full of energy. About the Author: James Emerson Hough was born and raised in Paducah, Kentucky, schooled in the public school system of that community, earned an AS degree studying mathematics, physics, chemistry, biological and zoological sciences at Paducah Junior College, and earned BS Geology and MS Engineering Geology degrees at the University of Kentucky, Lexington. He retired December 31, 1998, at age 68, ending more than thirty-five years in private practice of the applied earth sciences as a licensed professional engineer and licensed professional geologist. Hough was awarded the DSc degree by the American Institute of Geosciences in 2020.
