'Crimes against Peace' and International Law Kirsten Sellars, 2013-02-28 In 1946 the judges at the International Military Tribunal at Nuremberg declared crimes against peace, the planning, initiation, or waging of aggressive wars to be the supreme international crime. At the time the prosecuting powers heralded the charge as being a legal milestone, but it later proved to be an anomaly arising from the unique circumstances of the post-war period. This study traces the idea of criminalising aggression from its origins after the First World War through its high water mark at the post-war tribunals at Nuremberg and Tokyo to its abandonment during the Cold War. Today a similar charge, the crime of aggression, is being mooted at the International Criminal Court, so the ideas and debates that shaped the original charge of crimes against peace assume new significance and offer valuable insights to lawyers, policy makers, and scholars engaged in international law and international relations. Energy Research Abstracts, 1993
