

The Human Condition Essay

Essay Question: Refer to two prescribed poems and one related text of your choosing and explore aspects of the Human Condition presented by the composers

Essay:

The Human Conditions refers to our experiences, relationships, emotions, interactions and desires through a physical, social, cultural and personal context. This concept was explored in the poems "Song of the Captured Woman" by James Devaney, and "The Widower in the Country" by Les Murray, and also in the short story "The Secret Life of Walter Mitty" by James Thurber. The compositions showed how a person's past experiences and memories, relationships, and interactions with their environment played a significant role in shaping their identity.

A person's memories and past experiences have a significant impact on the way they think, feel and act. This is evident in the poem "The Song of the Captured Woman" by James Devaney, where an isolated woman is depicted. She reminisces on her memories and deep connections with her homeland, and hence emphasizes her longing to be with her people. Through the imagery in the line "...away to the south to my Murrawal River", the poet shows how the woman's experiences in the Murrawal has shaped her as a human being, resulting in her current insecure state and social withdrawal. Furthermore, with the use of the personal pronoun "my" the persona exposes the sense of comfort and safety these memories make her feel. The substantial effect that any past experience has on an individual is also apparent in Les Murray's poem "The Widower in the Country". This composition explores the deep contemplation of the protagonist, who, after the death of his wife, has led a routine, monotonous life in response to his grief and sadness. The poem opens with the line "I'll get up soon, and leave my bed unmade" to emphasize how much the widower misses his wife. His nostalgia is again reinforced through the natural imagery and symbolism present in the lines "...windless trees, the nettle in the yard..." and "the roof reflects the sun" when the man reflects upon his past memories, causing his "eyes to water". The death of his wife had a significant impact on the way the man perceived life, resulting in his social withdrawal and lack of motivation. In contrast, James Thurber's short story "The Secret life of Walter Mitty" reveals how a person's lack of valuable experiences and memories can cause them to feel insecure. The protagonist, Walter Mitty, seeks escape in his fantasies, where he lives a heroic life of thrill and excitement. His mundane lifestyle and lack of worthwhile experiences is reinforced in the repetitive and monotonous tone created by the synecdoche "...Toothpaste, toothbrush, bicarbonate, cardamum, initiative and referendum". The protagonist is constantly fantasising with the hope of gaining a treasurable

Disability and the Academic Job Market Christopher McGunnigle, 2022 Disability and the Academic Job Market examines ableist structures in academia that inherently create obstacles to full time employment for people with a disability Based on historical and contemporary scholarship it has been shown how disclosure of a disability can have profound repercussions for a scholar with a disability Scholars with a disability are often inhibited from applying to or being promoted in academia because of direct discrimination negative perception towards people with a disability inaccessible physical and performance conditions and social models of disability that characterize disability as unproductive abnormal and risky While scholarship has addressed ableism in academia it has not strongly focused on the specific difficulties and barriers that a person with a disability faces when applying for a full time academic position This book seeks to provide a resource that brings to light ableist conditions in the academic hiring process through the lived experiences of scholars with a disability with hope to implement change in these situations This collection presents a combination of personal narrative and scholarship from academics with a disability who have navigated the academic job market with additional contributions from non disabled allies who have advocated for change in academic structures Our collection begins by expressing the concerned experiences of students entering the academic job market followed by scholars who have more fully lived through the obstacles of the academic market in both contingent and tenure track positions A vital focus of this collection is on intersectionality as chapters draw from interactions between disability and race gender and sexuality across international contexts Important topics discussed throughout the collection include systemic ableism disclosure the job interview academic workaholism and lack of accommodations Lotus Leaves ,2007

Essays of an Information Scientist Eugene Garfield,1977 Bible through the Lens of Trauma Elizabeth Boase,Christopher G. Frechette,2016-11-04 Explore emerging trends in trauma studies and biblical interpretation In recent years there has been a surge of interest in trauma trauma theory and its application to the biblical text This collection of essays explores the usefulness of using trauma theory as a lens through which to read the biblical texts Each of the essays explores the concept of how trauma might be defined and applied in biblical studies Using a range of different but intersection theories of trauma the essays reflect on the value of trauma studies for offering new insights into the biblical text Including contributions from biblical scholars as well as systematic and pastoral theologians this book provides a timely critical reflection on this emerging discussion Features Implications for how reading the biblical text through the lens of trauma can be fruitful for contemporary appropriation of the biblical text in pastoral and theological pursuits Articles that integrate hermeneutics of trauma with classical historical critical methods Essays that address the relationship between individual and collective trauma Journalology, KeyWords Plus, and Other Essays Eugene Garfield,1991 Humanizing Health Care Jan Howard,1975 Sociological Abstracts Leo P. Hirshbein,2015-01-31 Current public health literature suggests that the mentally ill may represent as much as half of the smokers in America In Smoking Privileges Laura D Hirshbein highlights the complex problem of mentally ill smokers placing it in the context of changes in psychiatry in the tobacco and pharmaceutical industries and in the experience of mental illness over the last century Hirshbein a medical historian and clinical psychiatrist first shows how cigarettes functioned in the old system of psychiatric care revealing that mental health providers long ago noted the important role of cigarettes within treatment settings and the strong attachment of many mentally ill individuals to their cigarettes Hirshbein also relates how as the sale of cigarettes dwindled the tobacco industry quietly researched alternative markets including those who smoked for psychological reasons ultimately discovering connections between mental states and smoking and the addictive properties of nicotine However Smoking Privileges warns that to see smoking among the mentally ill only in terms of addiction misses how this behavior fits into the broader context of their lives Cigarettes not only helped structure their relationships with other people but also have been important objects of attachment Indeed even after psychiatric hospitals belatedly instituted smoking bans in the late twentieth century smoking remained an integral part of life for many seriously ill patients with implications not only for public health but for the ongoing treatment of psychiatric disorders Making matters worse well meaning tobacco control policies have had the unintended consequence of further stigmatizing the mentally ill A groundbreaking look at a little known public health problem Smoking Privileges illuminates the intersection of smoking and mental illness and offers a new perspective on public policy regarding cigarettes

Social Medicine in the 21st Century Samuel Barrack,2011-04 PLoS Medicine s October 2006 issue contained a special collection of eleven magazine articles and five research papers devoted entirely too social medicine The collection featured many of the leaders in the field including Paul Farmer Arthur Kleinman David Satcher Nancy Scheper Hughes Dorothy Porter and Leon Eisenberg The Kaiser Family Foundation has conducted interviews with two of the authors of papers in this collection David Satcher and Paul Farmer In its launch issue in October 2004 PLoS Medicine signaled a strong interest in creating a journal that went beyond a biological view of health to incorporate socioeconomic ethical and cultural dimensions For example that first issue contained a policy paper on how the health community should respond to violent political conflict a debate on whether health workers should screen all women for domestic violence and a study on the global distribution of risk factors for disease Two years on our October 2006 issue takes our interest even further It contains a special collection of ten magazine articles and fi ve research papers devoted entirely to social medicine We are delighted that the collection features many of the leaders in the fi eld including the renowned medical anthropologists Paul Farmer and Arthur Kleinman the former United States Surgeon General David Satcher and the Harvard professor of social medicine and psychiatry Leon Eisenberg Most of our readers have welcomed our inclusive view of what a medical journal should highlight Some however have been critical suggesting that we should publish less soft stuff and more hard science These critics might argue that in this era of stem cell research and the human genome project of molecular medicine and DNA microarray technology the notion of social medicine seems irrelevant and outmoded But the ultimate role of a medical journal is surely to contribute to health improvement and that means looking not just at molecules but at the social structures that contribute to illness The stark fact is that most disease on the planet is attributable to the social conditions in which people live and work The socially disadvantaged have less access to health services and get sicker and die earlier than the privileged Despite impressive technological advances in medicine global health inequalities are worsening Forthcoming Books Rose Arny,1990
