

T-65 X-WING

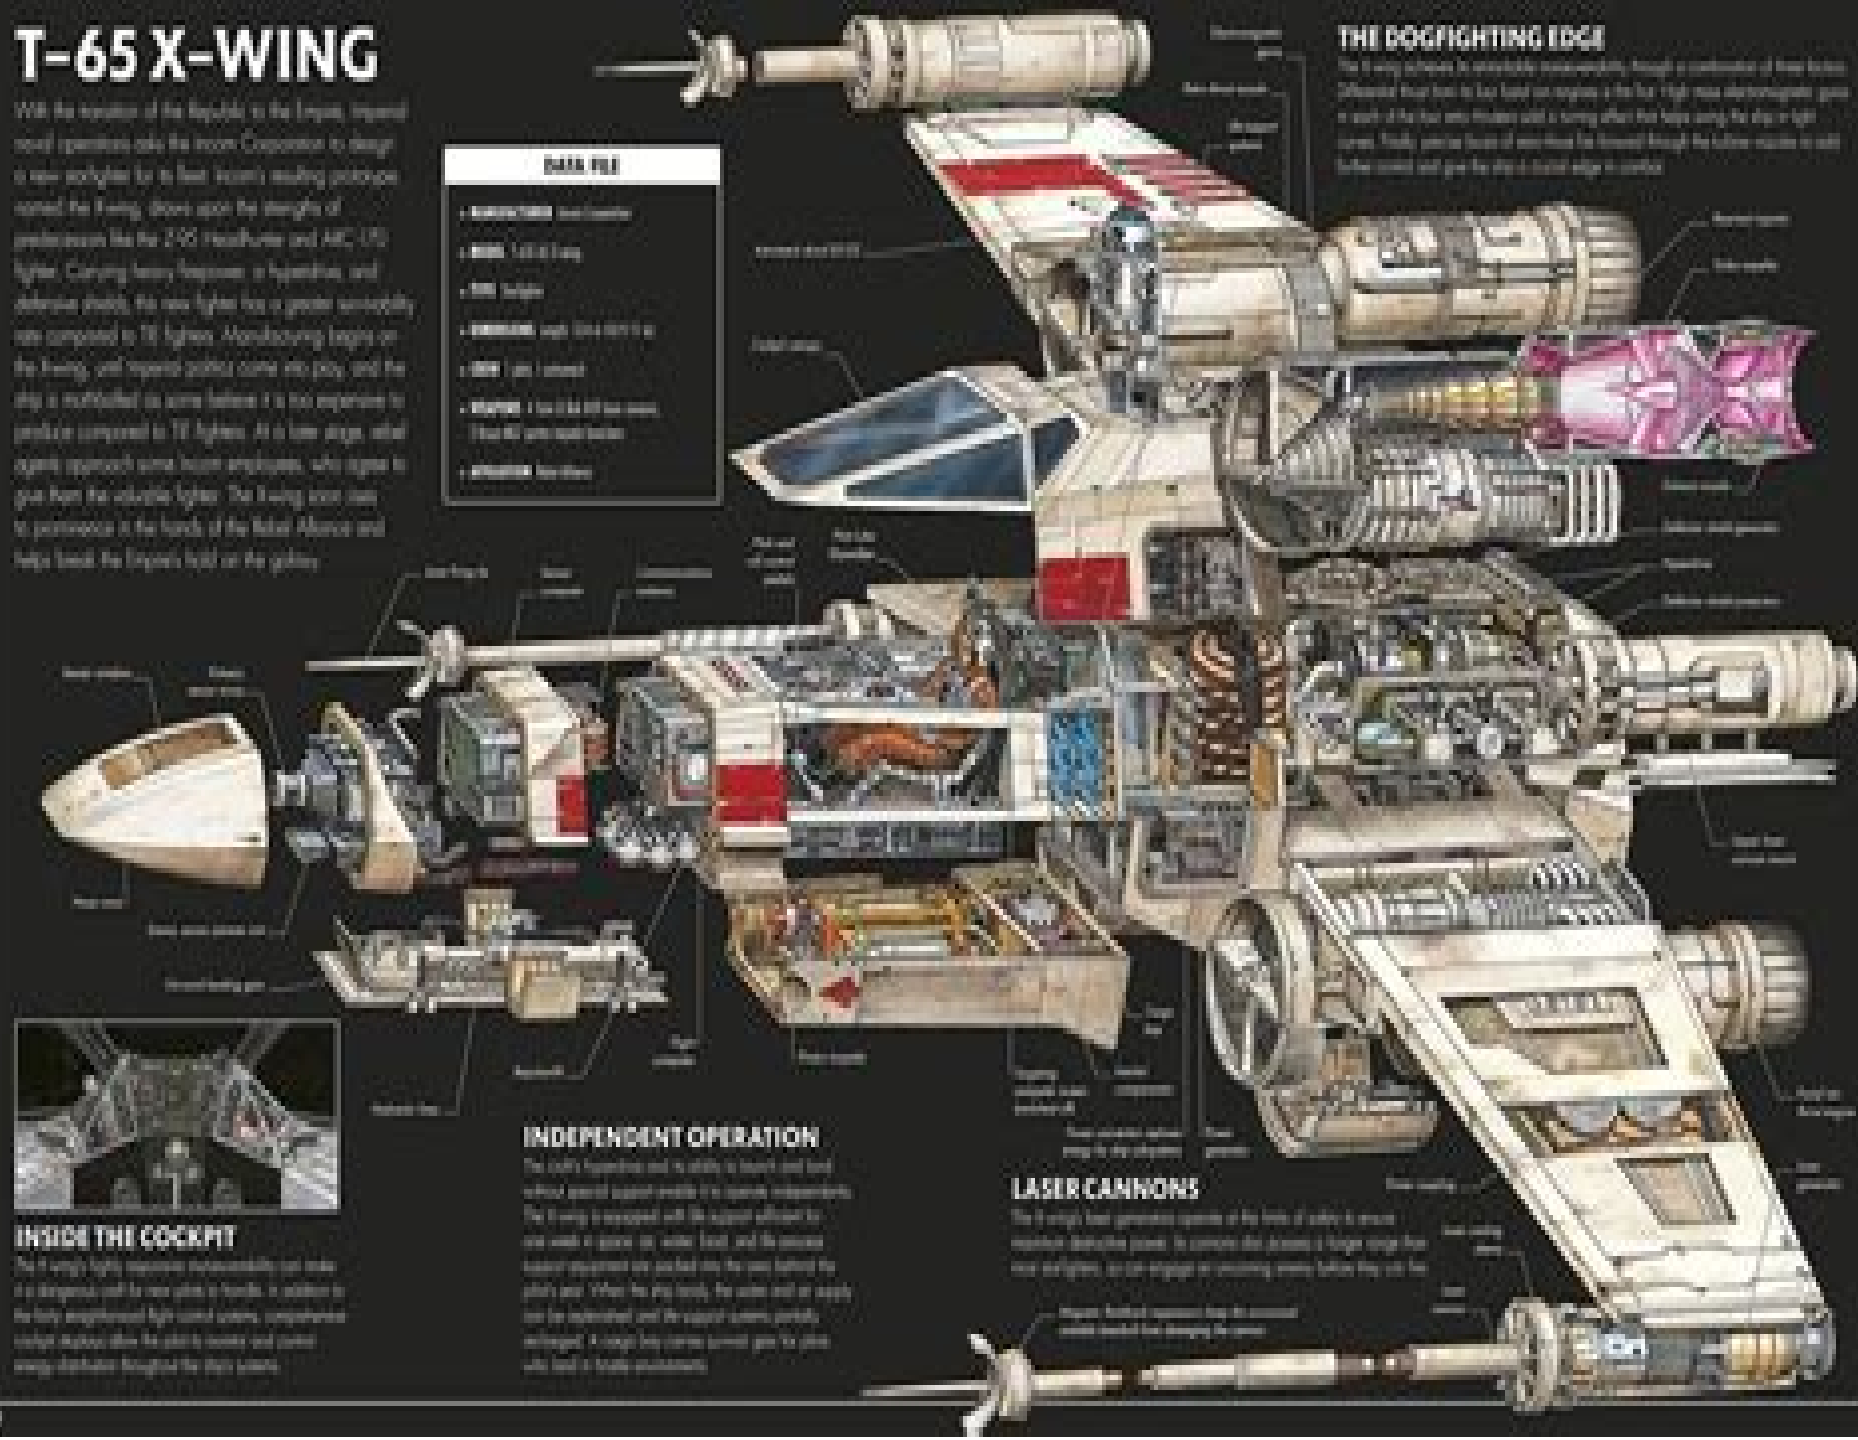

With the invasion of the Republic by the Empire, Imperial naval operations take the form: Corporation to design a new fighter for its fleet. Yoda's leading principle: copied the X-wing, there upon the strength of performance like the T-65 Headhunter and ARC-170 fighter. Carrying heavy firepower, a hyperdrive, and defensive shields, the new fighter has a greater versatility than compared to T6 fighters. Manufacturing begins on the X-wing, and Imperial orders come into play, and the ship is modified to some extent it is too expensive to produce compared to T6 fighters. At a later stage, initial plans approach some secret employees, who agree to give them the valuable fighter. The X-wing was then to participate in the hands of the Rebel Alliance and help break the Empire's hold on the galaxy.

THE DOGFIGHTING EDGE

The X-wing achieves its remarkable maneuverability through a combination of three factors. Different from most in the fleet, the X-wing has high mass electromagnetic guns in each of the four main thrusters and a spring action that helps using the ship in tight corners. Finally, powerful forces of ionization are focused through the hollow nacelles to add further control and give the ship a tactical edge in combat.

INSIDE THE COCKPIT

The X-wing's highly responsive maneuverability can make it a dangerous and fast-moving force. In addition to the fully implemented light control system, comprehensive cockpit features allow the pilot to control and control energy distribution throughout the ship's systems.

INDEPENDENT OPERATION

The ship's responsive and its ability to launch and land without ground support make it a highly independent. The X-wing is equipped with the support system for one week in space, no water tank, and the necessary support equipment are packed into the space behind the pilot's seat. When the ship lands, the water tank or supply can be replenished and the support system, possibly recharged. A single day's mission can give the ship a full week of independent operation.

LASER CANNONS

The X-wing's four powerful cannons are the main source of its offensive power. Its cannons also possess a larger range than most fighters, so can engage an incoming enemy before they can fire.

Powerful feedback system keeps the cannons' stability constant, keeping the target.
